BUTLER UNIVERSITY

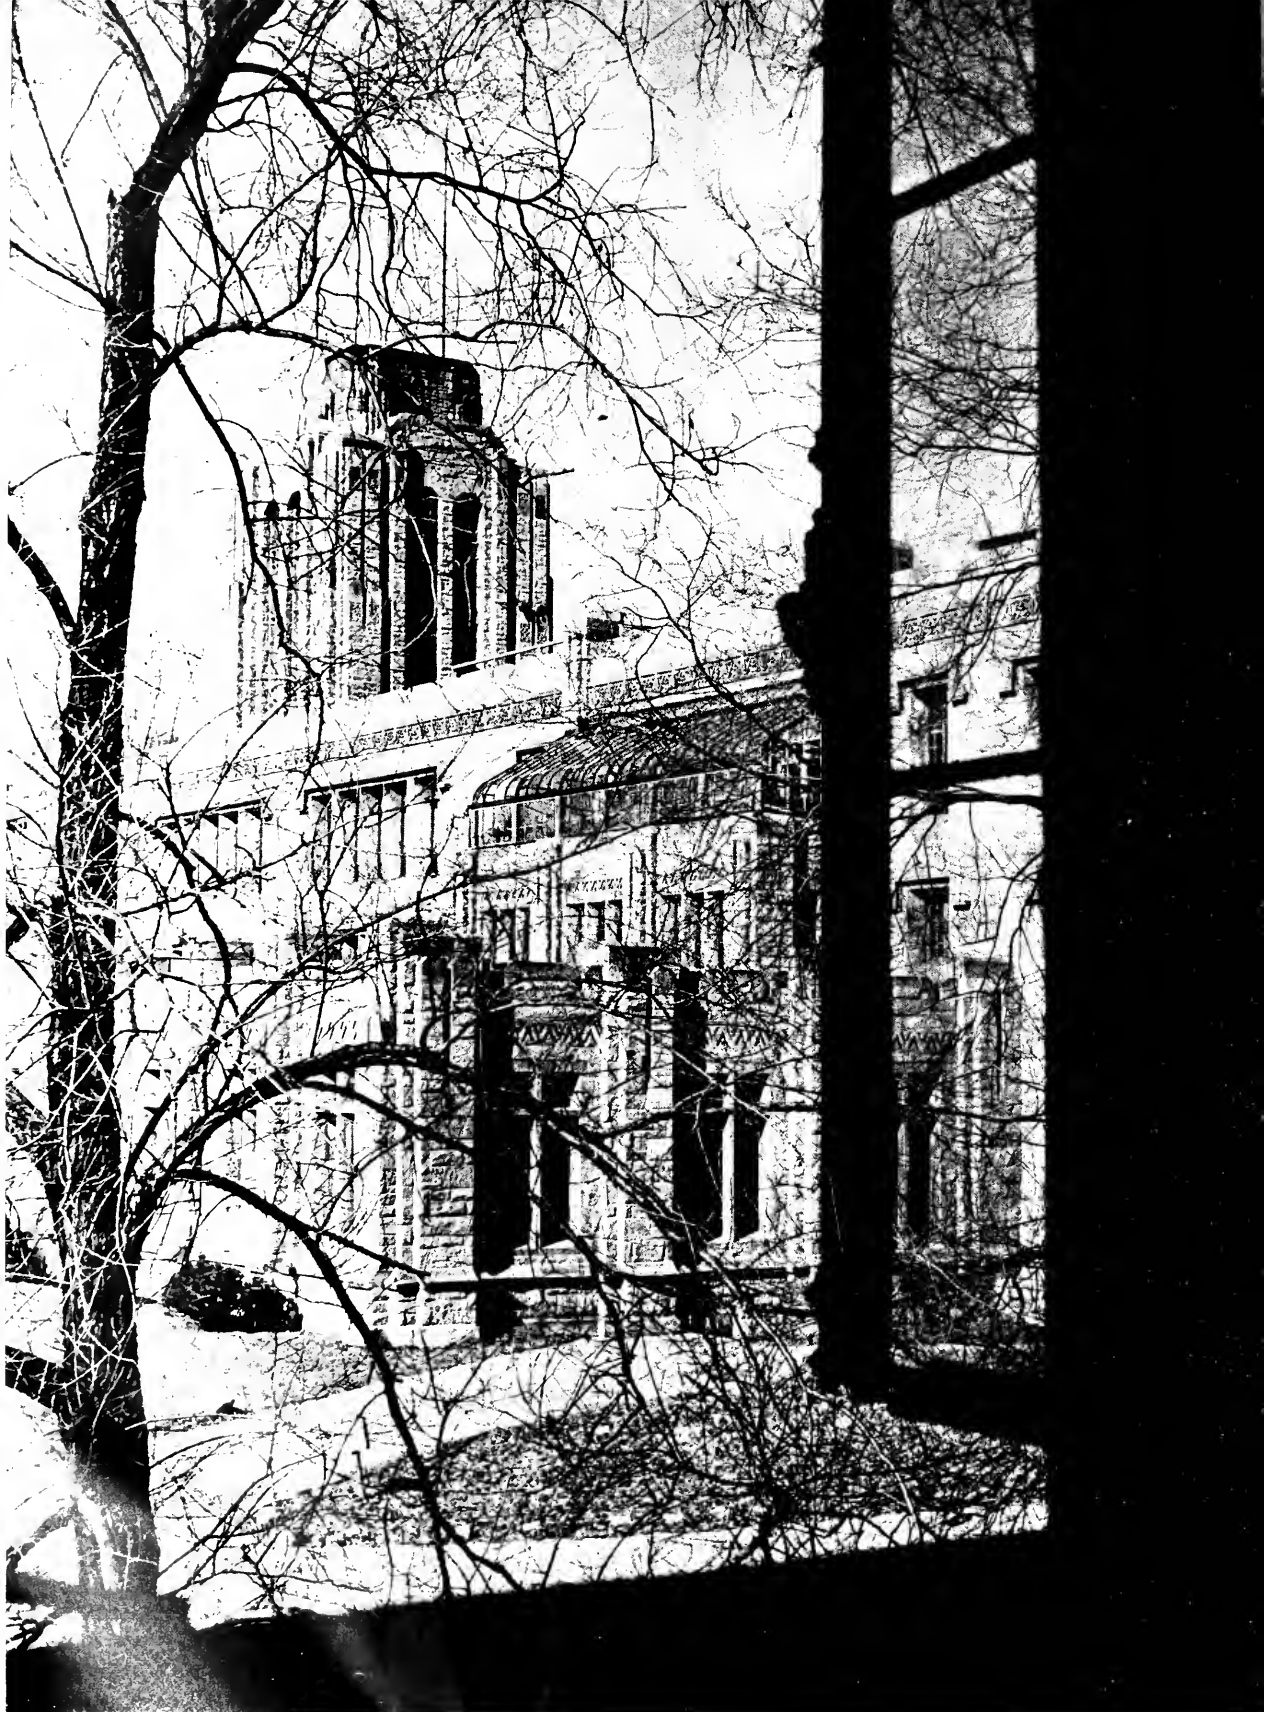

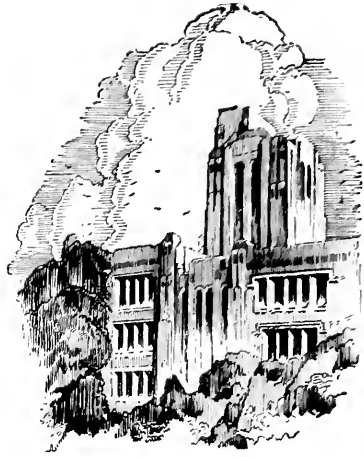

The 1952 Drift . . .

a PICTURE of student activity and achievement in a year at Butler University.

It has been the desire of the members of the DRIFT staff to produce a yearbook that is representative of the student body of Butler, and to this end we have labored faithfully. The degree of success we may have achieved will be measured in the satisfaction and enjoyment you will receive from this volume, not only this year, but in many future years when a DRIFT may be a tie-back to your days at Butler.

and Butler University.

Each day while sitting in class you thought that minutes seemed like hours and that the day would never end.

Now, looking back, you wonder where the year has gone, what you did, where you went, and what your friends did.

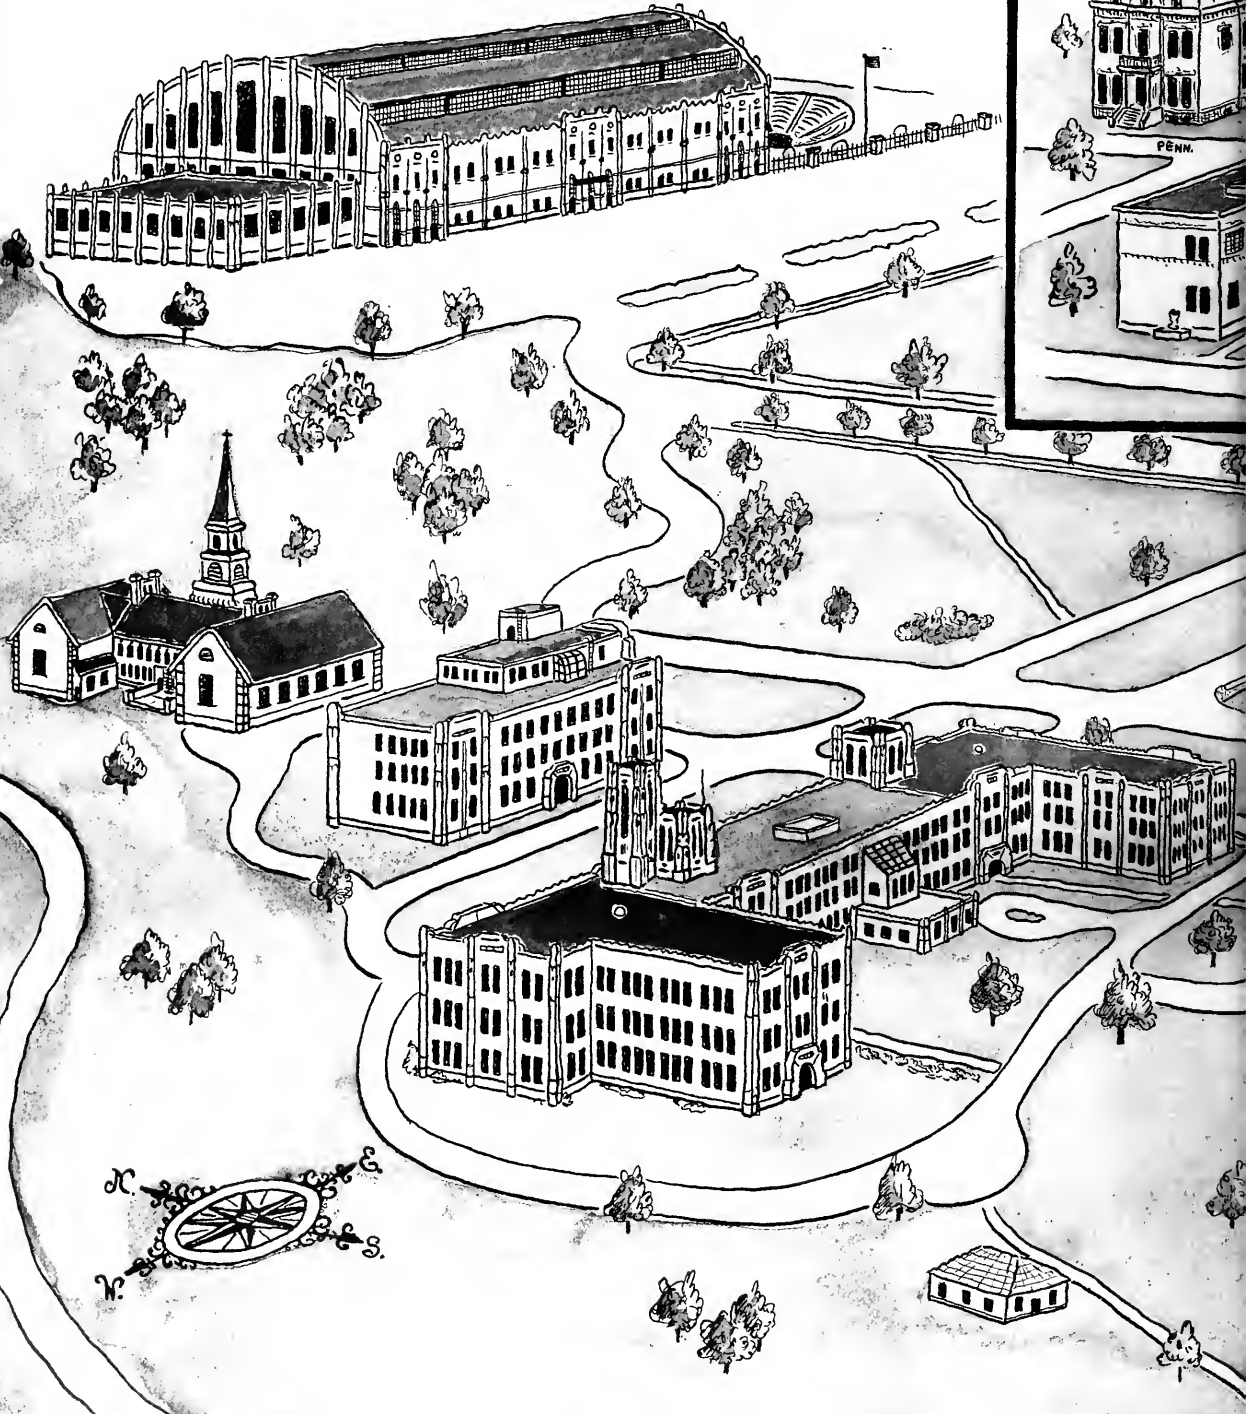

These things and many more, you will find recorded in this PICTURE.

HERRON

In 1952 the campus topography was still undergoing change. In regular use now were Jordan Hall, Atherton Center, the Pharmacy building, Sweeney Chapel, and the fieldhouse. Jordan College of Music became a full-fledged college of the university and Herron Art Institute was an affiliated college.

The new campus building included the Sigma Chi house on Hampton Drive and the cottage in the J. I. Holcomb Botanical Gardens. Plans were also being discussed for dormitories.

JORDAN HALL

Administrative and college offices, libraries, classrooms, and labs are all found in Jordan Hall. Butler students spend most of their classroom hours in this building.

PHARMACY BUILDING

The first classes were held in the newly-constructed Pharmacy building this year. It contains various laboratories, classrooms, and a library, and is one of the best equipped schools of its type in the midwest.

RELIGION BUILDING

The Religion Building, sometimes referred to as Sweeney Chapel, is the home of the ministerial students. It contains classrooms, offices, a reception room, a small auditorium, and a chapel where campus Sunday services are held.

FIELDHOUSE AND BOWL

Butler sports center is the Fieldhouse and Bowl. The Fieldhouse seats 15,500 and is one of the largest of its type in the world. Butler games, professional events, and high school tourneys are held within its walls. Outside and to the east of the Fieldhouse is the well-known Butler Bowl, which has a capacity of 40,000. Here, students gather to cheer on the football team and to enjoy other outside activities.

John Herron Art School is an affiliated college of Butler university. Herron Art Institute and Butler cooperate in a program for the preparation of art teachers and art supervisors. Courses in studio and applied art are given at the 16th and Pennsylvania location, while the professional and academic courses are given on the campus. Art students also have the facilities of the Institute's Art Museum.

JORDAN COLLEGE OF MUSIC

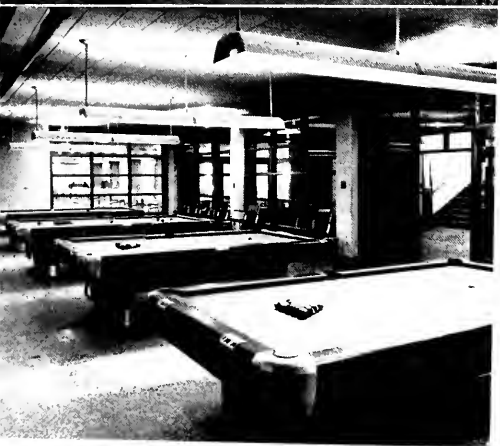

This year Jordan became a full-fledged college of Butler university, and it is hoped that the time when they will be able to move to the campus is not too far in the future.

Jordan students take courses in music, radio, drama, and dance. They also produce many musical and dance programs as well as individual recitals, and all-school productions. Radio students operate an FM station, WAJC.

ATHERTON CENTER

Atherton Center is indeed the "center" of campus activity, both academic and recreational. In its bookstore students may purchase everything from candy to soap, and thumbtacks to textbooks. The cafeteria and Campus Club fill Butler stomachs quite satisfactorily.

The billiard and table tennis rooms provide active relaxation for some students while others prefer an over-the-coffee-cup chat, or a hand of bridge between classes in the C-Club.

Headquarters for extra-curricular activities such as the DRIFT, B.I.S.A., Y.M. and Y.W.C.A., and Newman Club are found on the third floor, along with lounges and a reception room.

Besides classes, exams, mid-night study sessions, and regular school activities, there was another side to this PICTURE OF BUTLER, 1952 . . . one composed of little things that make college life a life we will remember.

Of national importance to all of us was the death of King George of England and the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. The campus coeds, looking for variety, brought forth two new hair styles. For those who still preferred the freedom of very short hair, there was the Poodle Cut; and those who let their tresses grow, turned to the Pony Tail. Fellows and girls alike wore white bucks and argyles, but the campus eds couldn't see following suit when the gals appeared in knee socks. Many a feminine student put her faith in the mustard seed charm which dangled from her watch band or bracelet. Butlerites whistled and hummed many current tunes as their popularity rose and faded; but everyone agreed that Johnny Ray's "Cry" was really all right. Love was not forgotten this year either. Practically every corner had its couple, and pinnings and engagements were recorded by the score.

meant taking the day off to stand in line and fill out cards in order to put yourself through the agony of another semester. You thought up new ways to register early. You hustled back and forth trying to convince your adviser that you really didn't need that certain class. You filled out cards until you thought you'd scream if you saw another one. You had your picture taken for that flattering ID card. And you stood in line, and stood in line.

But while you were standing in line you realized that this was only one day of a semester, and that school really was fun.

Last but not least was the Bursar's desk. But after all it was the end of the lines.

These students bravely attack the task of filling out those endless registration forms.

A new semester meant new books. And that meant a trip to the textbook department in Atherton Center.

Sara Jane Clark and Ross Copeland bang it out on the piano while the rest of the group vocalize.

FRESHMAN Y CAMP

Each year the combined Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. sponsor the Freshman Y Camp. All freshmen entering Butler may attend the week-end outing which was held this year at Turkey Run State Park.

Here the frosh have the opportunity of meeting informally the Dean of Men, Dean of Women, members of the faculty, and outstanding upperclass students. They learn of the various aspects of Butler in the more formal sessions and become acquainted with their class members in free hours.

FROSH MIXER

The class of 1955 had its formal introduction to campus social life in the form of the annual Frosh Mixer held in the cafeteria at the beginning of the fall semester. The combined Y sponsored the affair at which the local campus dance band played. During intermission time a Typical Freshman Boy and Girl were chosen.

WRA STREET DANCE

Ghosts and goblins were replaced on Hallowe'en on the campus by Butlerites who attended the WRA Street Dance. Fellows and gals square-danced the evening away and feasted on donuts and cider, appropriate Hallowe'en fare. Delta Gamma Gerry DeFrank and Sigma Chi Dick Lacy were chosen Witch and Scarecrow respectively.

1951 HOMECOM

The crisp fall weather and the will to win, both for their school and for their organization, brought all Butler students to the edge of their seats during Homecoming week. Floats and house decorations rose as did the number of sleepless nights.

Starting on Wednesday, Mary Sue Jacobs, Delta Gamma, was elected to reign as Queen over the Welcome-Back celebration. At high noon on Friday the freshmen boys met the year-older sophomores in a Greased Pole Fight, while their female counterparts were straining away in a Tug-o-War. The Frosh won and were allowed to doff their dreaded beanies. Then everyone hustled downtown to join in the big parade. The Tri Deltas and Sigma Chi's won the coveted float awards which were presented that night at the torch light parade, bon-fire and pep rally.

ING FESTIVITIES

Hammers and saws were busily at work early Saturday morning as organized Butlerites prepared for the house decoration judges. Sigma Nu and Alpha Chi Omega were the winners this time.

By noon a steady downpour of rain had set in but many loyal boosters donned water-proof apparel and swam to the bowl. But the weather was hard on the team, too, and Butler fell before the Aces.

Saturday night over six hundred dried-out people enjoyed the traditional Homecoming dance at the Egyptian Room. Mary Sue again reigned as Queen.

DRIFT BEAUTY CONTEST

Approximately 425 students, faculty members, and friends assembled in the cafeteria on the evening of January 9 to watch as the judges picked the five Drift Beauties from a field of thirty-one of Butler's loveliest coeds. The contest was held in the evening for the first time in order that more students could attend.

Contest chairman Don Schlademan, who also MC'd the affair, and a male committee made a survey picking two girls from each sorority to be contestants. Two additional contestants, based on ticket sales, were entered by each sorority.

Judges were Paula Karr, women's director of WIRE; Earl Beyer, portrait artist and director of the Art League; and Col. Ben K. Armstrong, head of Butler's Air Force ROTC.

While the judges were conferring, a quartet composed of Ross Copeland, Harry Henderson, Warren Clements, and Clyde Green entertained the audience.

After several preliminary eliminations, five girls were chosen as 1952 Drift Beauties and were presented corsages and the traditional bracelets by Drift Editor, Jane Cooksey. Sara Von Behrent was chosen Queen of Queens. The other winners were Barbara Bugg, Elizabeth Young, Bea Douglass, and Virginia Ann Johnson.

PANHELLENIC DANCE

The annual Panhellenic Dance in November opened Butler's formal season. The gal-drag-guy affair was held at the Indiana Roof.

Secrecy and fiendish smiles prevailed before the dance as the girls dreamed up corsages for their dates. Many fellows waited for their dates that night with growing hunger pains and worried thoughts about their corsages. Some of the more ambitious coeds took their dates out to dinner before going to the Roof.

At intermission time the traditional Best Corsage award was made and the King announced.

Middle: Janet Pearson's date, George England, was elected Pan-Hel King.

SOPHOMORE COTILLION

Joyce Barnard, Delta Gamma, reigned as Queen of the 1951 Sophomore Cotillion, in February, after election disputes were finally settled. The Student Council ordered a re-election to be held at the dance after an earlier election was protested and thrown out.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior Prom is invariably the biggest dance of the year. Festivities begin two weeks before the affair as the beard growing contest gets under way. Ray Lines was the '51 winner.

Prom Chairman Jack Ellis presented 1951 Queen Erlene Snyder, Tri Delt, and her court at intermission ceremonies at the Indiana Roof. Phi Delta Theta won the trophy for the most tickets sold.

Tex Beneke and his well-known band provided the music for the dancers.

Breakfasts at fraternity houses after the dance helped make it a wonderful night. Girls living in sorority houses and attending breakfasts enjoyed the novel four o'clock hours.

GENEVA STUNTS

Approximately 1,600 persons attended this year's production of Geneva Stunts held in Caleb Mills Hall. The Y.W.-Y.M.C.A. sponsors the event each year in order to send representatives to the Geneva conference in Wisconsin. This year's chairmen were Doris Nordyke and Louis Spear.

Pi Beta Phi and Delta Tau Delta were winners of the major acts while Kappa Sigma and Kappa Alpha Theta won in the minor act classification.

Middle: The faculty act was another riot as the profs "doffed their dignity" and joined in the fun.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

In connection with their work for the 1952 Heart Foundation Fund Drive, A.W.S. sponsored a Valentine's Eve dance in the C-Club. The high light of the evening was the announcement of the Queen of Hearts title winner, Pat Wood, of Kappa Alpha Theta. Her organization collected the most money in the drive thus winning for her the queenship.

A.W.S. president Mary Lou Leaf presents a plaque to Pat Wood while Abe Schankerman crowns her Queen.

TRACK QUEENS

Carol Reddington of Zeta Tau Alpha and her court provided the feminine touch at the little State Track Meet held here at Butler last spring. The girls awarded the medals to the winning athletes.

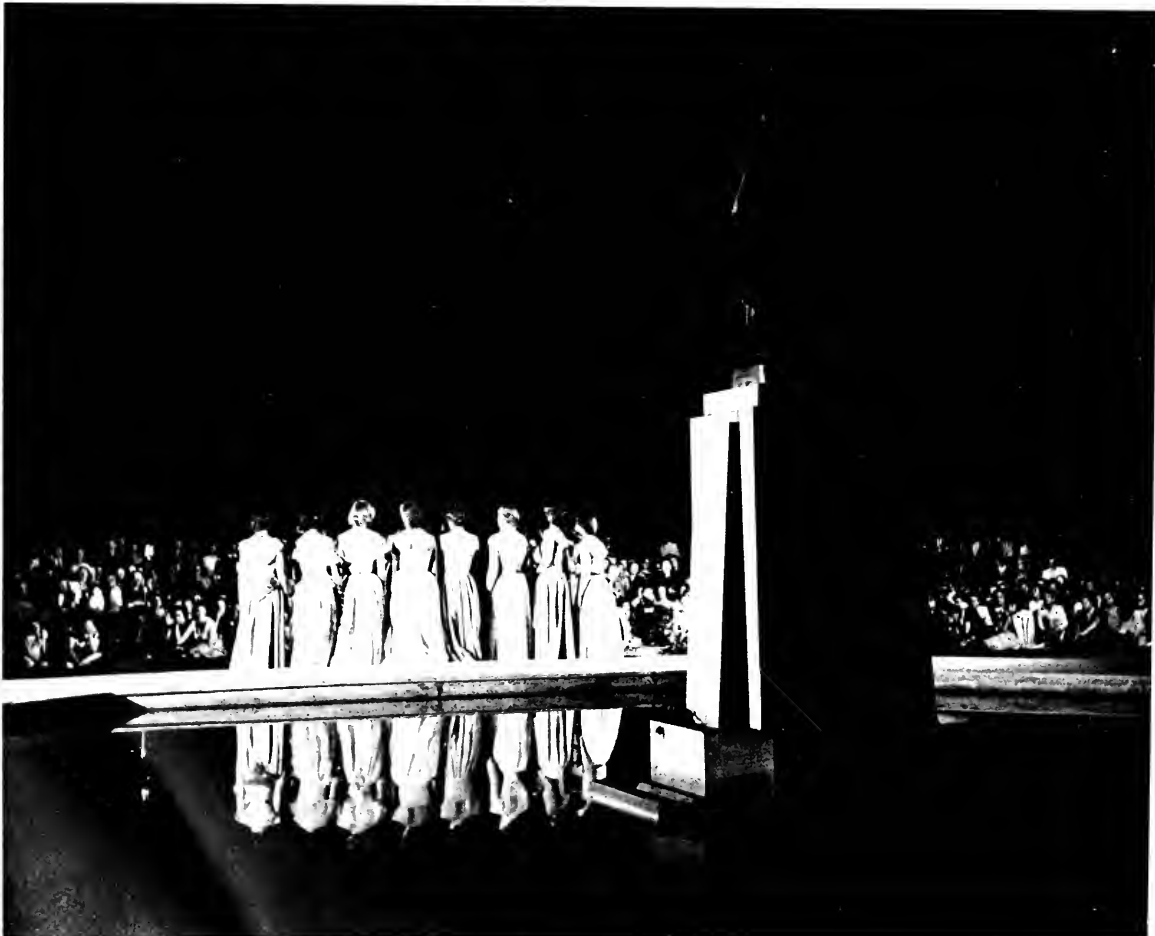

SPRING SING

The annual Y-sponsored Spring Sing was one of the most dramatic spectacles of the year. Each social organization met in the J. I. Holcomb Memorial Botanical Gardens to present their arrangements of three songs each. The effects of night and well placed lights and flowers made Persophone and the pool a perfect background for the formally attired groups.

YW Chairman Joan Meyers and YM Chairman Mike Wagoner took charge of the program. Trophies for first place went to Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Tau Delta.

COMMENCEMENT . . .

The coming of June meant the end of another school year to most of us. But to the seniors it meant commencement, the end of a full and happy college life. All through the calendar of senior activities, the graduates rejoiced at the thought of no more classes and exams. At the same time they were saddened by the fact that their pleasant days at Butler were ending, and the realization that after graduation they would lose contact with or possibly never see again many of their friends. But this feeling was brushed aside as they remembered that these friendships and memories of Butler would always be a part of them and that many new experiences lay ahead.

SPORTS

Coach Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle.

Thirty-one years ago, Pat Page, then head coach at Butler, hired a young athlete from Chicago university as assistant coach. Today this man is Director of Athletics and has concluded his 31st year of service to Butler university. He is Paul D. "Tony" Hinkle.

"Tony" was born on December 19, 1899, in Logansport, Indiana. He attended Calumet high school, and received his B. S. degree from the University of Chicago. While at this university he starred in baseball, basketball, football and soccer and won nine letters in these sports. He was also named All-American while there.

He came to Butler in March of 1921, and served under several athletic directors until 1934, when he was made director of athletics and head football coach.

During 1927, '28, '29, and '39, Butler won the Indiana Conference title, and in 1933 and '34, his teams annexed the Missouri Valley title.

Coach Hinkle was absent during World War II, when he served in the Navy as athletic officer at Great Lakes and later as recreation and welfare officer on Guam.

One of the highlights of his career occurred in 1943 when his Great Lakes football team upset the otherwise unbeaten Notre Dame eleven in the last few minutes of the game.

Coach Hinkle's record here speaks for itself. His football teams prior to 1941 won seven championships. Assisting Coach Page, Tony helped the Bulldogs win their first national basketball championship. Their second national crown was won in 1929 with "Hink" acting as head coach.

"Hink" has been instrumental in leading Butler into national basketball prominence and has been a key figure in the college's history.

ATHLETIC STAFF

Butler's coaching staff this year was comprised of several well-learned individuals who tutored Bulldog varsity teams for combat, supervised substitutes training for future first team berths, and set up rigorous athletic programs in intramurals and women's sports.

Frank "Pop" Hedden, former Butlerite, assisted in football and basketball, as usual, and guided the tennis team to a very outstanding season.

Galvin Walker had his perennial winning track team and developed a promising crew of long-distance runners, although losing to several rugged competitors in cross-country.

Jim Hauss, '38, could be well pleased with his golfers this year. He, along with Boris "Babe" DiMancheff and Lt. Col. Henry Johnson, assisted Coach Hinkle with the footballers, and Bob Dietz, in his sixth year as coach, worked with the junior varsity basketball squad.

Herb Schwomeyer, '42, had a very well-rounded program in intramural sports for every season of the year, and some fine sports activities were afforded these students that could not enjoy varsity competition.

Mrs. Magdalene Davis, assisted by Miss Ruth M. Sparhawk, conducted the women's intramural program. This included all the various seasonal sports plus several "play-days," which consisted of competition with other schools in swimming, track, and softball.

Low man on the totem pole, perhaps, but at the top in accomplishments and certainly a cherished friend to all who nursed bumps, bruises, and broken spirits, was Jim Morris, Butler trainer.

Conjuring up a symmetrical 4-4-1 record from the dust of a hotly-contested 1951 gridiron campaign, the Bulldogs retired with a 50-50 count, morally in their favor. Statistically speaking, the '51 round can be capsuled as a neat .500 season all the way around. Every victory seems to find its counterpart in defeat and a healthy amount of lofty praise counter-balances the same amount of scathing criticism. It was a little-big, good-bad season, with the plucky Bulldog resting somewhere on the hyphen.

LOSSES TO TOP TEAMS

In view of the highly-touted competition, this .500 percentage stands as a good endorsement for the Bulldogs. Losses to Valparaiso, Washington of St. Louis, and Western Michigan were more or less foregone conclusions. All three were top-flight teams in their respective leagues and the Valpo Crusaders boast a succession of victories stretching over two seasons of regular competition.

Fitting four victories under his paunchy canine belt, the Bulldog dropped Western Reserve, Ball State, Evansville, and Indiana State.

ONE UPSET DESERVES ANOTHER

The only "faux pas" for the team was an upset at the hands of an inferior St. Joseph eleven; and probably the biggest single triumph was the Wabash deadlock of 26-26. This was the only blemish on the Little Giants' record for the season.

The Fairview gridders led their opponents in first downs, passing, interceptions, and punts; but trailed in net yards rushing. Butler accounted for 132 first downs to their adversary's 129 and completed 89 passes over their opponents' 67. They bogged down in net yards rushing by measuring 1331 to the enemy's 1716.

GRID NOTES

UNDERGRADS TOP OFFENSIVE

This year the largest share of statistical plunder went to three sophomores and one freshman who captured top rungs on the Bulldog's offensive ladder.

Final listings reveal halfbacks Don Kelly and John Riddle, quarterback Fred Davis, and fullback Norm Ellenberger to be monopolizing glory in ground attacks and in punting.

Kelly, a sophomore, and Riddle, a freshman, carried the brunt of terrestrial maneuvers, gaining 755 yards of 1331 racked up by the entire Bulldog rushing machine. Kelly paced all other individuals with a gain of 441 yards from 84 attempts, with Riddle hard on his heels at 314 yards from 40 tries.

Riddle, however, reigns first and foremost in pass receiving by scooping in 17 aerials for 221 yards and two touchdowns. Jim Crumley, who only played in four games because of an injury received early in the season, was runner-up with 207 yards from 18 catches.

KELLY, RIDDLE LEAD ICC RUNNERS

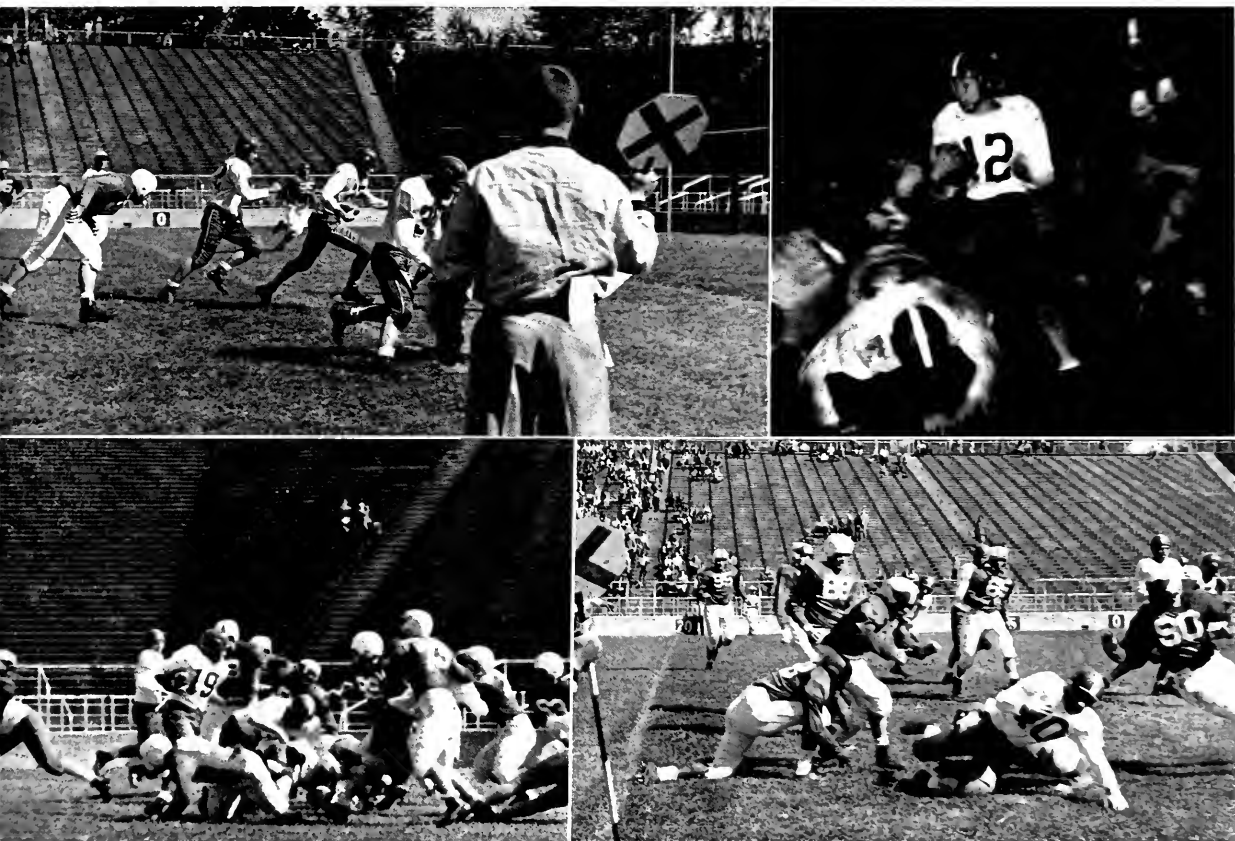

Kelly and Riddle also shared laurels for the longest individual scoring runs in the Indiana Collegiate Conference. Kelly reeled off 96 yards in a single dash against Indiana State and Riddle followed with an 84-yard run against Ball State, accomplished earlier in the season.

Riddle, Kelly, and Gene Mangin, a freshman halfback, split top scoring honors three ways with four touchdowns each.

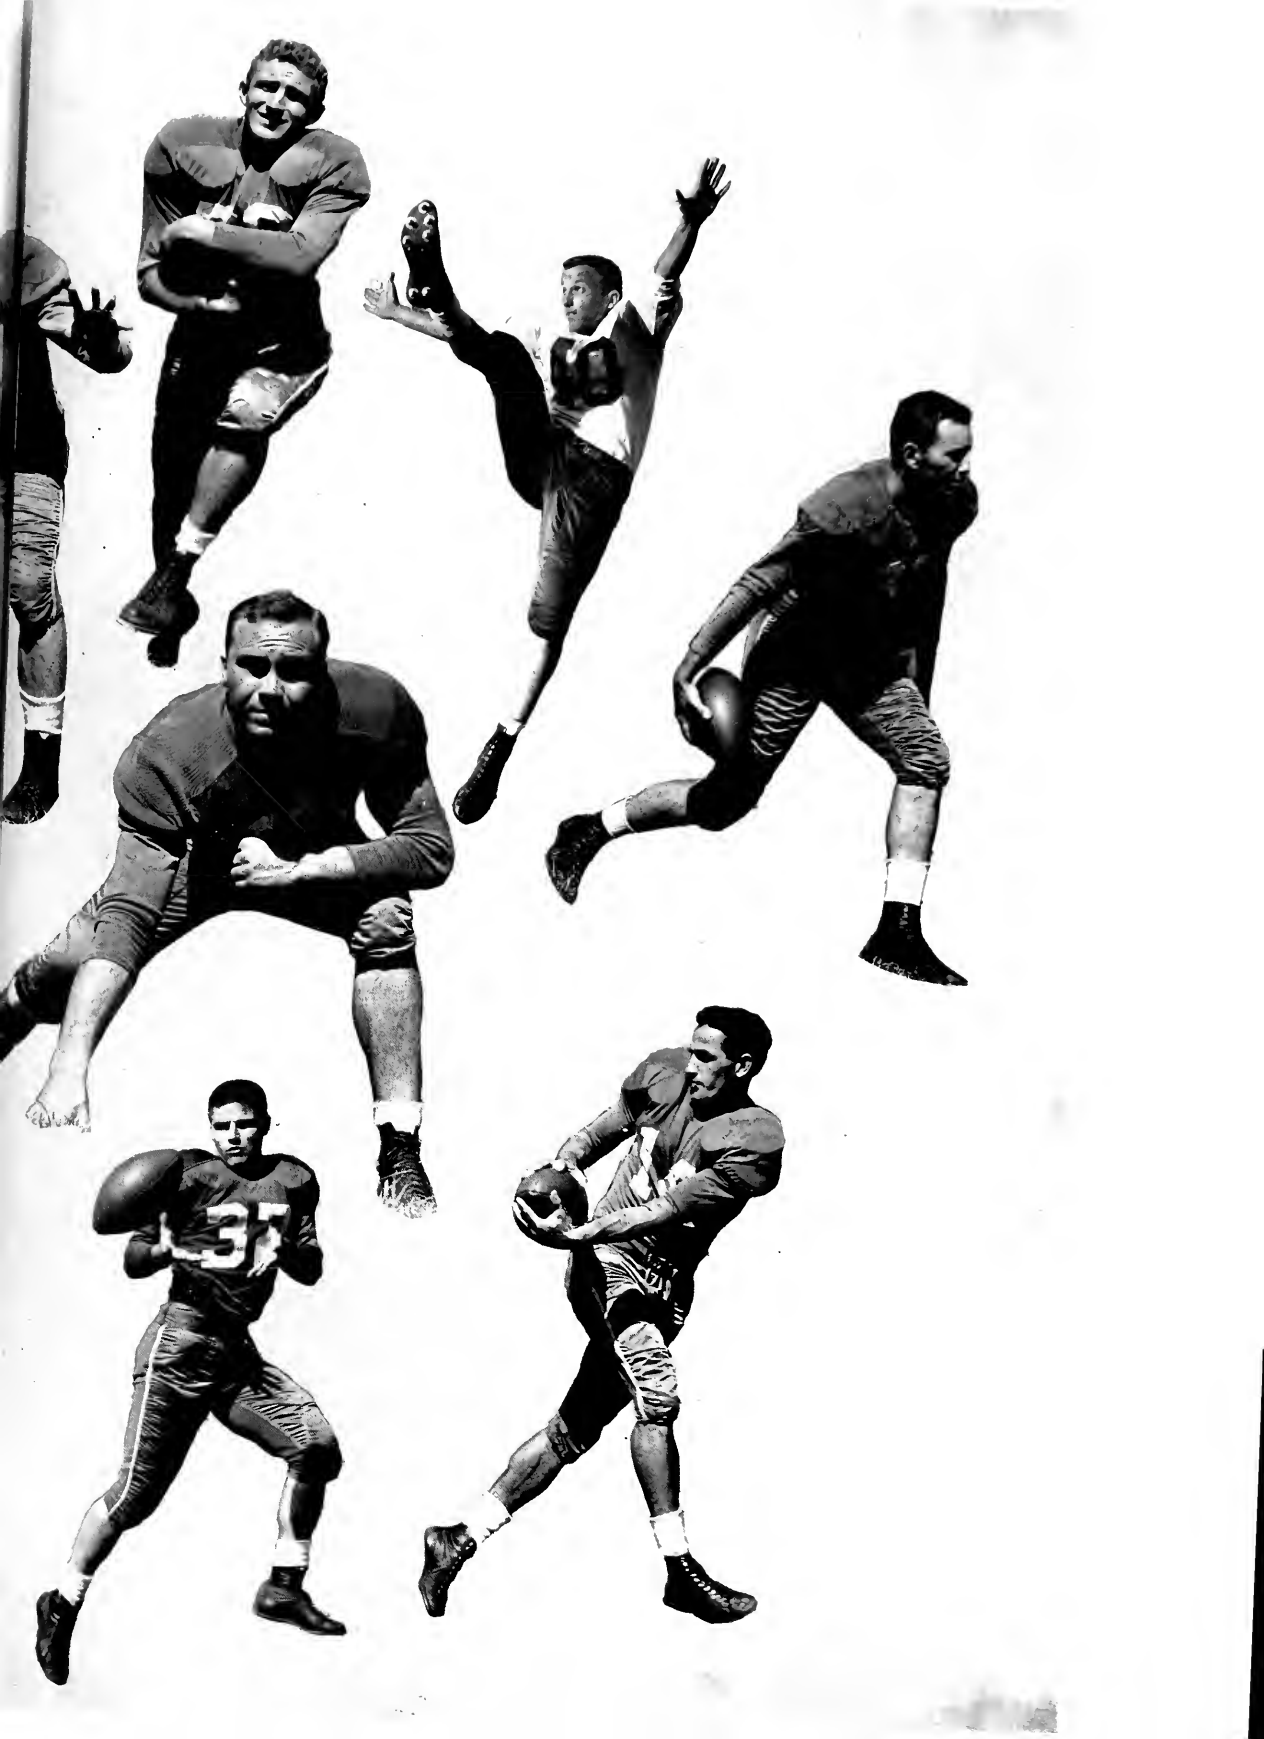

Ramrodding the aero-dynamics for the season was sophomore quarterback Fred Davis, who completed 46 of 116 tosses for a total of 607 yards. Senior Ron Hallam placed second with a higher percentage of 40 completions out of 86 throws.

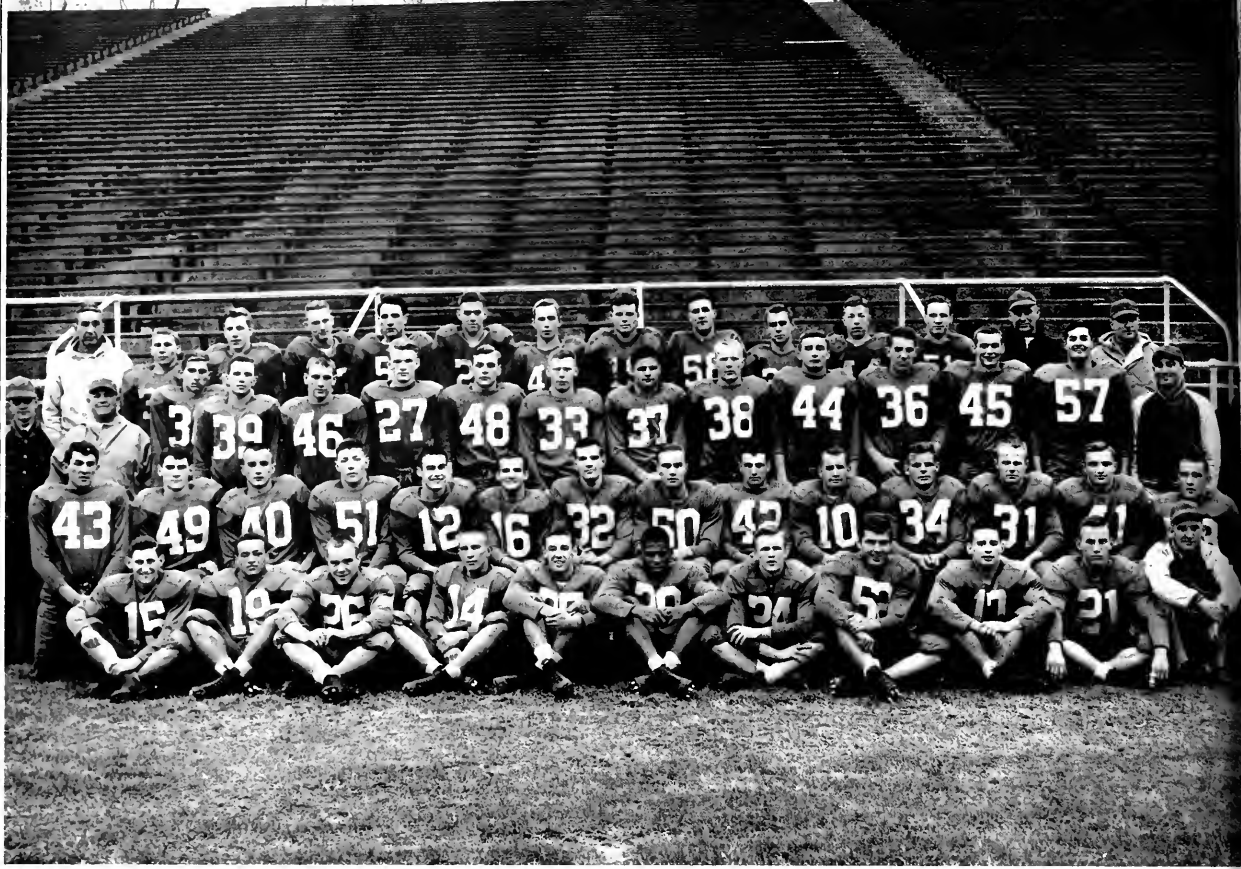

ELLENBERGER PROVES EXCELLENT PUNTER

Sophomore Norm Ellenberger proved to be a godsend and goldmine to the often battle-weary Bulldogs this season with his accomplished punting. In addition to finishing as the team's top kicker, he captured an honored third place among small college punters for the year. Norm achieved a 40.6 average from 50 boots.

THE SEASON

WESTERN RESERVE

With the wounds of a 33-6 defeat at the hands of Valparaiso still smarting, Butler applied the salve of a 7-6 victory over Western Reserve to start the season with a 1-1 clip. A recovery by Norm Ellenberger launched a first quarter Butler drive. With Don Kelly and fullback John Manka escorting the ball to the 13 yard line, senior quarterback Ron Hallam flipped a screen pass to end Charlie Johnson for Butler's first and only touchdown. The winning point was converted by John Manka.

WABASH

Enriching a time-cured Wabash rivalry with a 26-26 deadlock, Butler put on what was probably their best performance of the season as they blemished an otherwise flawless Wabash record. A 55-yard pass maneuver from Hallam to Riddle tied the score that brought the all-time Wabash-Butler record to a 22-14-5 standing, in favor of the Bulldogs.

BALL STATE AND ST. JOSEPH

An 84-yard scoring run by halfback John Riddle highlighted Butler's second victory of the season as they winged the Ball State Cardinals, 20-14. This outcome gave the Teachers their fourth straight loss of the season. Fumbles and interceptions proved costly to the Fairview gridders the next weekend when the St. Joseph Puma turned out to be a cat-'o-nine-tails. Butler's star fullback John Manka was carried off the field following the opening kick-off, and Butler's hopes for a victory followed soon after.

EVANSVILLE

After a demoralizing upset at St. Joseph, the pigskin pendulum swung in the Bulldogs' favor the following Saturday when a homecoming throng saw Butler upset Evansville, 27-12. Bringing the season's record to 3-2-1, the Bulldogs depended heavily on the prowess of quarterback Fred Davis, halfback George England, and end Charlie Johnson. Davis accounted for the first two tallies and Johnson's conversions gave Butler a winning margin.

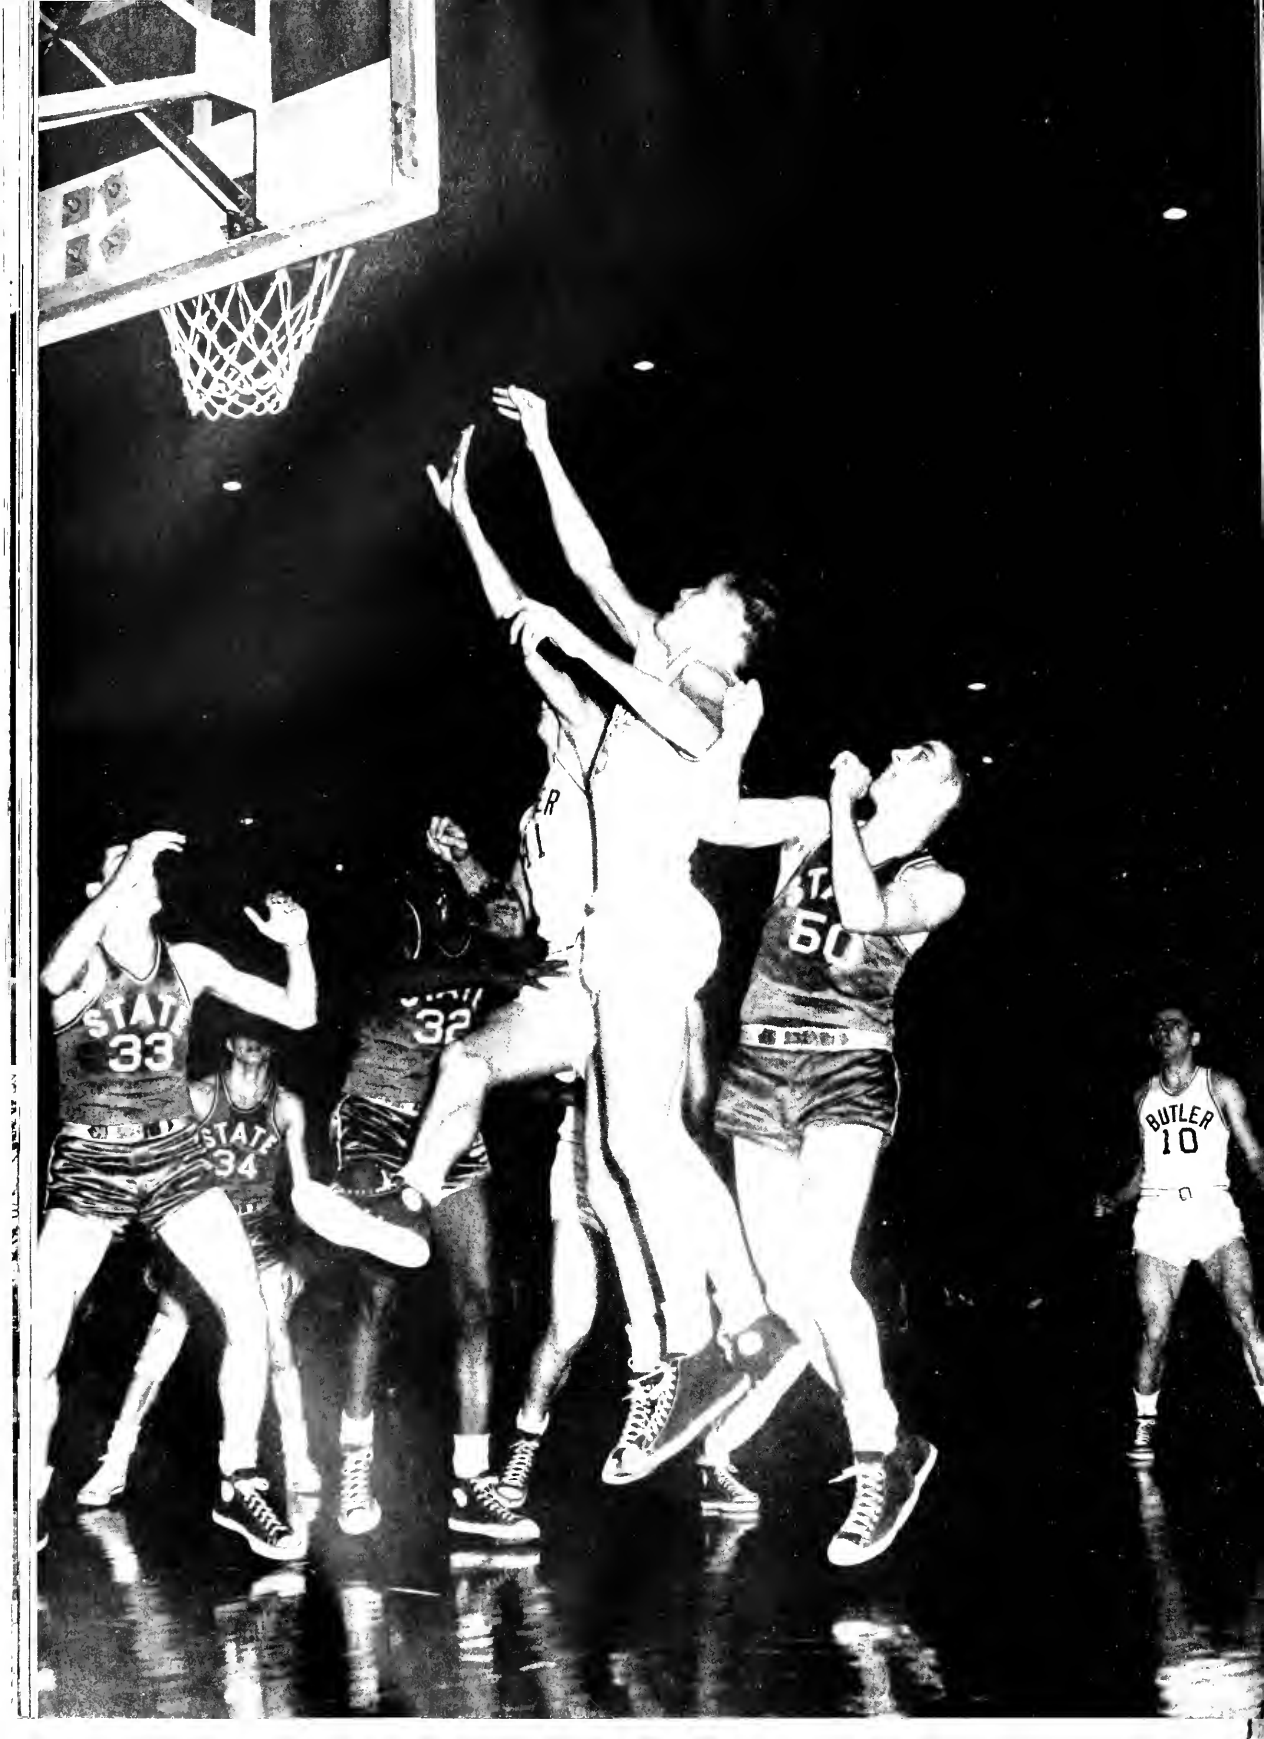

WESTERN MICHIGAN AND WASHINGTON, ST. LOUIS

Bulldog scoring potential, so heated against Evansville, went into cold storage when Western Michigan paid a visit to the Bowl. The Broncos bucked their way to a 20-0 shutout over the hapless Bulldogs. Heaping insult upon injury, Washington of St. Louis gave Butler their final defeat of the season the next weekend. Outscored but certainly not outclassed, Butler won the statistics but lost the ball game.

INDIANA STATE

Behind a 96-yard run by halfback Don Kelly, the Bulldogs wrapped up a nine game grid season in a 4-4-1 package by felling the Indiana State Sycamores, 14-7. Backed up by two dozen blanketed fans, the Butler squad punctuated their 1951 season with a .500 record and left Indiana State winless, in this final pigskin encounter of the year.

For what is probably the first time in Butler sports history, the Bulldogs duplicated their football record of 4-4-1 with the same .500 percentage on the hardwood.

Terminating the deadlocked season with a decisive victory over Ball State, Butler broke even with a record of twelve wins and twelve losses while gaining the coveted Indiana Collegiate Conference championship. This was a season spiced with upsets, near upsets, high hopes, and broad speculations. It was a season to command even the most apathetic fan's attention, particularly when such giants as Iowa, Ohio State, and Wisconsin came breathlessly close to being swallowed up by Bulldog tenacity.

Among the vanquished were Michigan, Wabash, Valparaiso, and Indiana State. Evansville, DePauw, Ball State, and St. Joseph bit the dust twice to bring the season's victories to twelve. Northwestern, Illinois, Ohio State, Wabash, Purdue, Indiana, Notre Dame, Indiana State, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Valparaiso put Butler on the casualty list. Notre Dame's Irish administered the double dose.

Orvis "Shorty" Burdsall, Keith Greve, Jim Crosley, Ray Stewart, and Bill Roepke comprised the starting five. Don Holloway replaced Roepke at mid-season.

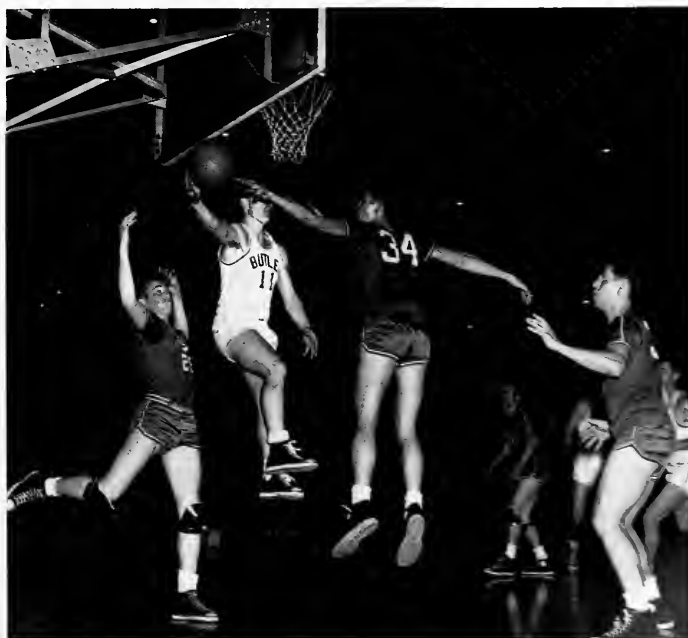

BURDSALL ENDS BRILLIANT CAREER

The Ball State encounter, February 26, marked "Shorty's" last game for the Bulldogs and climaxed a three-year career for Butler's stellar forward. Prior to the last three games of the season, Shorty had accumulated 576 points, third highest in Butler history. Only Ralph O'Brien and Jimmy Doyle surpassed him. With the advent of two more games culminating in a 21 point scoring exhibition at Ball State, his cumulative points skyrocketed to 616, exceeding Doyle, and ranking him second only to the great "Buckshot."

BASKETBALL NOTES

Butler's Indiana Collegiate Conference Championship team in action.

At the annual Basketball Banquet sponsored by Blue Key, Shorty Burdsall, most valuable player, admires the coveted Indiana Collegiate Championship trophy won this year by the Bulldogs.

Two team members received individual honors from Don Shaw. Bruce Hale was the keynote speaker at the banquet.

Keith Greve, a freshman who prepped at Waveland, Indiana, has been a consistent starter in the other forward slot and Jim Crosley, a sophomore guard, filled his first varsity post with spunk and competence. Ray Stewart, a sophomore from Speedway, combined height and accuracy in the center post, and Don Holloway, a guard, frequently occupied the double-figure scoring column.

George Theofanis, sometimes referred to as the best fourth-quarter shooter in the state; Bob Reed, who holds the best free-throw average in the state; Charles Englerth, Mike Radkovic, and Harry Porter constitute the other five. Tom Huff, Norm Ellenberger, Jack Frayman, and Jack MacKenzie round out the 14 players.

BIG TEN FOES POWERFUL

After a demoralizing 57-93 setback at the hands of Northwestern, Butler sustained its second successive loss to the Fighting Illini, 57-68. Striving to retain their Big Ten championship, garnered the previous year, Illinois, put in a full night's work leashing a hotter-than-usual Bulldog. "Shorty" Burdsall, senior forward, and Ray Stewart, sophomore center, led the Bulldog scoring with 16 tallies each.

Goaded on by such a near victory, Butler trekked to Ohio State the following week and kept Buckeye rooters poised for an upset until a last-minute bucket sank Bulldog hopes and left the final score at 74-75. Two days later, Butler came to grips with a mediocre Michigan quintet and tossed the Wolverines for a 63-53 loss.

Defeat followed hard on the heels of victory in a typically erratic season as Wabash gave Butler a 58-60 defeat. It was a tight contest all the way, but Caveman power finally wore down the battle-weary Bulldogs. Burdsall racked up 21 points to lead the Butler scoring, followed by Stewart with 10, and Harry Porter with 8.

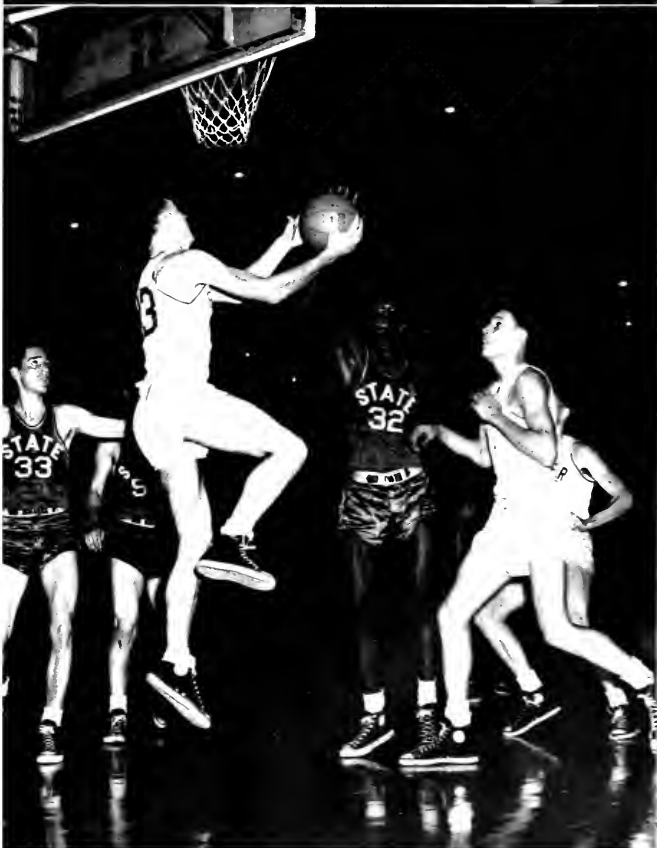

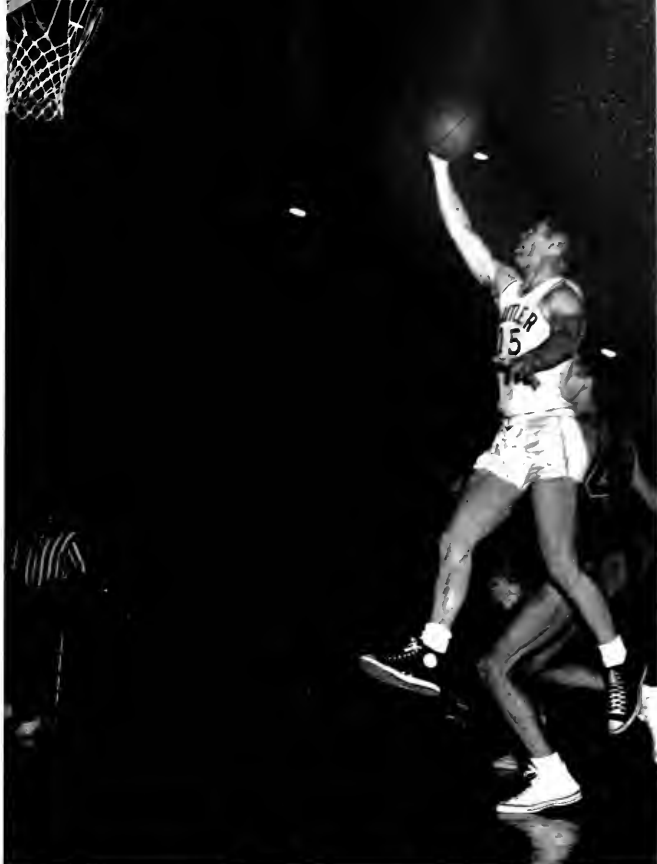

HOOSIER CLASSIC

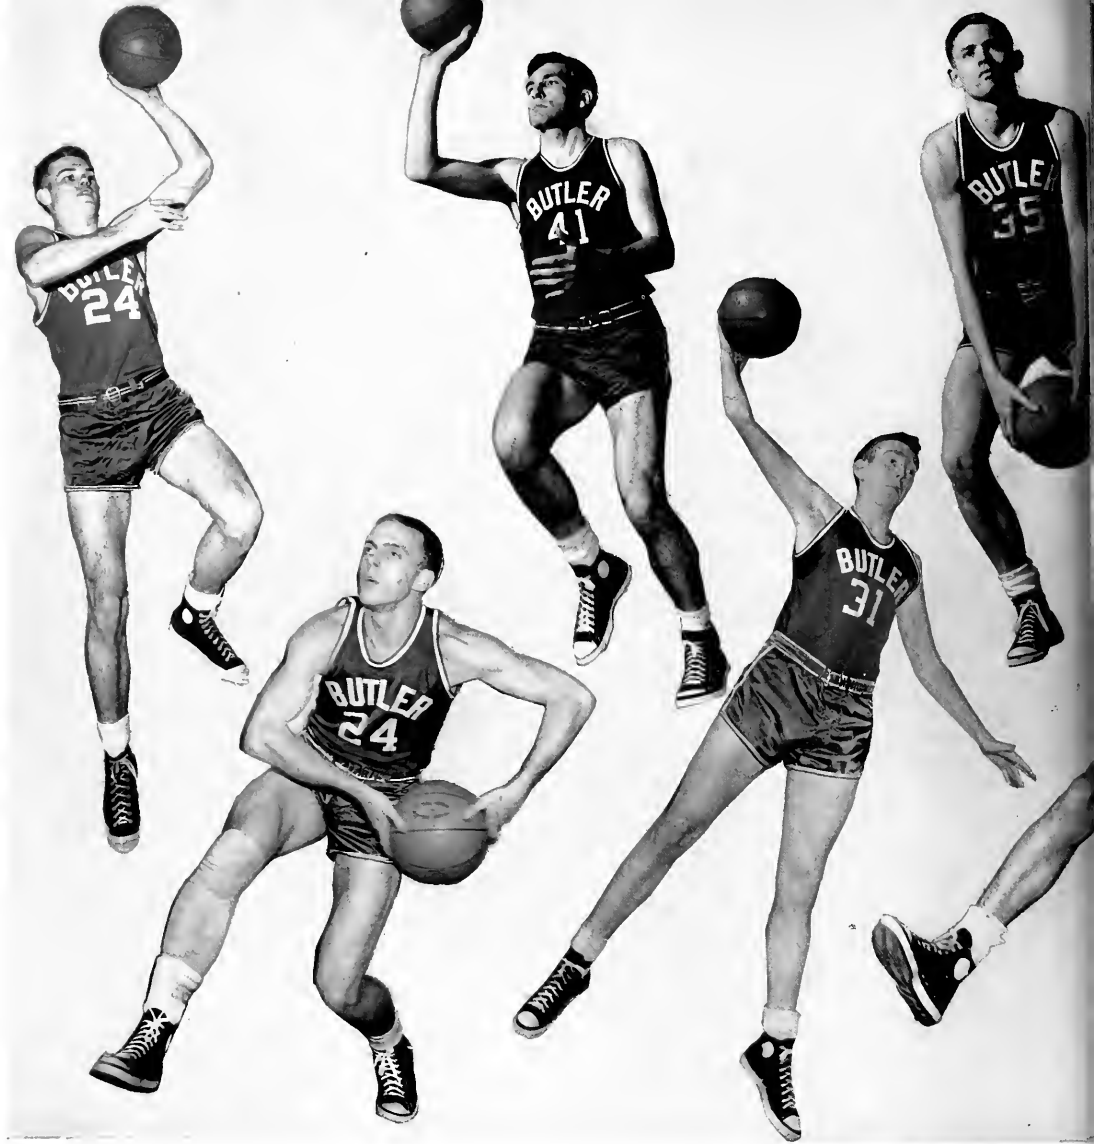

Butler's sojourn in the annual Hoosier Classic was brief and conclusive. They dropped their first game to Purdue, 51-55. It was a reasonably close contest, however, that saw McNulty of Purdue blister the hoops with 19 points to lead both teams in scoring. Mike Radkovic, diminutive guard, led the Bulldogs with 10. Indiana was next, and delivered a slightly more decisive victory, 87-71. Don Holloway and Mike Radkovic vanguarded the Bulldog attack in this contest, copping 14 points each.

Butler severed a string of three consecutive defeats when they subdued Evansville, 73-58, for their first ICC conquest. The most smashing victory the Bulldogs had delivered so far in the season saw an up and coming Don Holloway break into the double-figure column again. Don led the Bulldog offensive with 13 points, followed by freshman forward Keith Greve with 12 and Burdsall with 11.

FIRST ICC LOSS TO SYCAMORES

With two scalps already under their belt, Michigan and Evansville, the Bulldogs lowered the hatchet on DePauw in the next home game and clipped the Tiger's tail, 68-61. The home team then backed away from Notre Dame, 49-55, and stomachached their first ICC loss when Indiana State edged them, 54-52.

HIT WINNING STRIDE

The cyclical season took another turn when Butler journeyed to Wabash and launched a series of four straight wins and three successive ICC victories. Wabash fell, 77-66, followed by St. Joseph, 60-54, and Evansville, 71-65.

Extremities beget extremities, say the philosophers, and Butler soon saw their high hopes dashed by two heart-breaking losses. Iowa eked out a 58-57 decision, seconded by Wisconsin's 62-60 victory margin. Radkovic made Iowa sweat for every point as he led Butler's scoring with 15 points, the sum of seven field goals and one foul shot. A scrappy Bulldog freshman and starting guard, Jim Crosley, dominated the Wisconsin situation with 17 tallies.

ICC CROWN CAPS SEASON

One win and one loss followed in rapid succession as Ball State fell, 57-61, and Notre Dame triumphed, 52-48. Three victories then clinched Butler's claim to the second ICC championship to be awarded. Indiana State, St. Joseph, and DePauw succumbed to the canine charm. The St. Joseph tryst saw Butler's Keith Greve net 24 points, and Crosley broke Ball State's back with 16.

Following a shaking upset by Valparaiso, 72-52, Butler evened up a good-bad season by thumping Ball State for the second time, 59-46. Two snappy forwards, Burdsall and Greve, sparked the Bulldogs with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

CROSS COUNTRY

Climaxing an upstream season steeped with rugged competition, the 1951-52 cross-country team recorded two wins and five losses. Coached by Galvin Walker, the long-range harriers also netted second place honors in the Little State and ICC meets. Butler humbled Indiana Central and DePauw, but lost to Ball State, Miami, Western Michigan, and Chicago.

Despite the lack of seasoned runners, Coach Walker came up with a better than average team and a championship performer in John Owensby. New names that may come to occupy important places in the cross-country roster are Fred Berkey, Glenn Meyer, Jack Brown, Russ Murphy, and Tom Murphy. Lost from last year were such standouts as Don Thomas, Bob White, Wally Hart, and Harold Cline.

Owensby, a freshman, earned the only letter award given this season. John condensed the four miles into 21:48 to finish in first place against Indiana Central, won an easy first against Ball State, and set a new Little State Butler course record.

Fred Berkey, Frank Campbell, Richard Jackson, Glenn Meyer, and Tom Wetzler received service awards; freshman numerals were accorded Jack Brown and Russ Murphy.

TRACK

Galvin Walker, head track mentor, channeled his 1951 track team to triumphs in the new Indiana Collegiate Conference and Little State meets this year to highlight a 5-2 season.

Butler faced Wabash and St. Joseph in their first meet, in effect only a dual meet as St. Joe fielded a track team for the first time this year. The Little Giants won over the Blue and White cindermen by a slim margin of 4 points. Gurivitz, White, and Aldridge each won 2 blue ribbons.

The Fairview thinyclads gained their initial '51 triumph over Indiana State, with St. Joe again fielding a token squad. DePauw followed suit by bowing to the Bulldogs as White and Aldridge were double winners for the third straight time.

Ball State was cast aside decisively by the Walkermen, after a long period of subservience, with Campbell, White, and Aldridge gaining double honors, while Jim Glass gained his third blue ribbon this season in the shot put.

The Bearcats and Broncos of Cincinnati and Western Michigan, respectively, both ran around the Blue and White spikesters in a close triangular affair. Glass was the lone recipient of first place honors for Butler.

Ball State was host to the inauguration of the Indiana Collegiate Conference meet, in which all events were records. Butler took top honors, ten points ahead of the second place Cardinal hosts. Coach Walker's crew posted nine first places in the record book, with Aldridge responsible for two of them. Campbell, Wetzler, White, Gurivitz, Benjamin, and Crawforth added six, and the mile relay team filled out the page.

In the season's finale, the host Bulldogs regained supremacy in the Little State meet from Arch-rival Ball State by displaying team balance worth more than 45 points. This built a margin of 9 and 15 points over second place DePauw and the ex-champion Cardinals. White and Benjamin were the only Butler blue ribbon wearers.

Row 1: Foutty, Aldridge, Hart, Ballard, White, Schultz, Moore, Quillen, Franz.
 Row 2: Frosh Manager Horton, Manager Weinscott, Berkey, Meyer, Campbell, Cline, Gurivitz, Crawford, Wetzler, Coach Walker.
 Row 3: Hutson, Greenburg, Sturm, Benjamin, Stewart, McMahon, Glass.

White, in the mile and two-mile; Aldridge, in the low and high hurdles; Gurivitz, in the dashes and broad jump; Campbell, in the long sprints; Benjamin, Crawford, and Glass, in the weights; all were outstanding and compiled the major portion of Butler points.

Lettermen awards went to Jack Aldridge, John Benjamin, Frank Campbell, Hal Cline, Tim Crawford, Jim Glass, Harold Gurivitz, Richard McMahon, Tom Wetzler, Bob White, and Bob Weinscott, manager.

Ted Ballard, Fred Berkey, John Foutty, Walter Hart, Paul Hutson, Glenn Meyer, and Frank Shultz received their service awards.

Freshman numerals went to Don Franz, Russ Greenburg, Don Kelly, Ted Moore, Keith Quillen, Ray Stewart, and James Horton, manager.

CRAWFORD RECEIVES WILLIAMS MEDAL

On the evening of May 29, 1951, Thomas (Tim) Crawford, of Indianapolis, became the seventh recipient of the Andy Williams Memorial Medal. This was presented to him during the "B" Men's Annual Banquet, honoring Butler university baseball, golf, tennis, and track teams.

Tim succeeded Ralph "Buckshot" O'Brien as the senior chosen "for his unselfish attitude toward teammates and his wholesome conduct as athlete and student." He was captain and star quarterback of the 1950 football team and an ace performer in track, where he excelled in the javelin throw, capturing first place in the Little State track and field meet at Muncie this year.

BASEBALL

Butler's baseball team rebound from a losing 1950 season to post a 10-7 mark for the 1951 campaign. Furthermore, five of the seven defeats were dropped by the narrowest of margins, one run. Senior Paul O'Connell was the leading Bulldog pitcher with a 5-1 record. Purdue pinned that one loss on Paul, edging him 2-1. Both Boilermaker runs were made possible by a leaky Butler infield.

Jim Rosenstihl, Art Fougrousse, and Bill Hudson were the only members of the squad to participate in all 17 of the ball games. Rosenstihl, who served the team as captain, and Hudson paced the team in base hits with 16 apiece. Fougrousse was the leading run scorer with 14. Of these three only Hudson had another year of eligibility remaining at season's end.

O'Connell, Rosenstihl, Fougrousse, and Gene Frick, left fielder, were the only seniors on the 1951 squad, and coach Paul Hinkle was looking ahead to the spring of '52 with a great degree of optimism. Hinkle's main problems centered around the pitching staff. Since the close of the '51 season, O'Connell graduated, Don Houston was inducted into the service, Charles Alsop, promising sophomore lefthander, signed a contract to play professionally with the Chicago White Sox, and Beryl Kouns did not return to school.

That left Norm Ellenberger as the only returning hurler with any previous collegiate experience. Ellenberger split his time between pitching and the outfield in '51. His hurling mark was 2-1, and he batted .302 in 43 trips to the plate. Charles Johnson, a service award winner, and Horace Turner, winner of his freshman numerals, seemed to be the most likely candidates for the other slots on the pitching staff.

Fred Davis, who reported for baseball at the conclusion of spring football practice, batted .354. He, along with Hudson who stucked .276, was counted on heavily to lead the offensive of this year's team.

Eleven varsity letters were awarded at season's end. Recipients were Charles Alsop, Donald Campbell, Richard Campbell, Fred Davis, Norman Ellenberger, Art Fougrousse, Gene Frick, Bill Hudson, Paul O'Connell, Jim Rosenstihl, and Robert Therry.

Led by Kenneth Hoy, Butler captured its first two meets by subduing Franklin and Indiana State. The only two losses in dual competition were at the hands of Wabash and Detroit. Then followed successive victories over Franklin, DePauw, Ball State, Indiana State, Wabash, and Ball State again.

Captain Kenneth Hoy was the single letter winner. Service awards went to Mel Enyart, Mike Livorsi, John Mahan, and John Manka.

INTRAMURALS

SIGMA CHI FOOTBALL CHAMPS

Sigma Chi regained their intramural football crown from last year's Phi Delta Theta champions with a perfect season record. Behind the superb passing of Jack Mayhugh, the Sigma Chi's displayed a 9-0 won and lost mark for their best season in three years.

Before last year's Phi Deltas walked off with the football laurels, the Sigma Chi's had held the championship for three straight campaigns, losing one and tying five during that victorious period.

Under the expert tutelage of Coach Dave Quiesser, who played first string center for the champs, was assembled a group of stars in their own right. The first string was as follows: backfield—Mel Enyart, Hugh Wolfe, Jack Mayhugh and Bob McCallum; lineman—Joe Pirtle, Dick Smith, Dave Quiesser, John Davis, and Tom Bates.

PHI DELTS DISPLAY USUAL STRENGTH

Last year's Phi Delt champs wound up their season with a 7-2 record and a firm grip on second place. Don Houston and Bill Lyons were both offensive and defensive stalwarts of the Phi Delt squad.

Second position was handed to the Phi Deltas when Lambda Chi went against predictions to upset Sigma Nu, 6-0, late in the season. The loss dropped Sigma Nu into a third place tie with the independents of BISA. Both teams sported a final record of 6-2-1.

ALL-STARS BLANK LEAGUE CHAMPS

Butler's fourth annual All-Star Intramural Football game saw the sparkling All-Stars blank the league champs, 18-0.

Less than five minutes after the kick-off by Sigma Chi's Jack Mayhugh, a pass intended for Bob McCallum was intercepted by All-Star Dick Elder, of BISA, who ran 22 yards for the first TD.

In second quarter play, All-Star QB Ernie Williams, of BISA, sent a long aerial into the arms of Elder for the second score. Minutes later, Williams lateraled to Elder, who in turn lateraled to fullback Pat Masterson of the Deltas. Masterson then flipped a long pass to Tad Callis, of Lambda Chi, for the third and final score of the game.

First string berths on the All-Star squad were reserved for the following: backfield—Ernie Williams, BISA; Paul Hutson, Lambda Chi; Ed Straub, BISA; and Pat Masterson, Delt. Linemen were Dick Elder, BISA; Art Atlas, Sigma Alpha Mu; Dan Freeby, Sigma Nu; Marshall Williams, Sigma Nu; and Tad Callis, Lambda Chi.

VOLLEYBALL SEASON UNUSUALLY TENSE

Intramural volleyball ran its hotly contested course to a photo-finish. Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi won out over other opponents but were forced to settle for a tie between themselves. The dual champs ascended to the throne by compiling 8-1 season records.

Sigma Nu and Lambda Chi Alpha testified to the closeness of the race by ending their season deadlocked for runner-up honors. Both of these squads finished play with 7-2 marks.

SIGMA NU RACQUETEERS UNDEFEATED

Sigma Nu compiled a perfect record during the tennis competition as they finished with nine wins and no losses. Jack Fragmu and Kenny Seidensticker provided the power on the courts necessary for the winning of these laurels.

Sigma Chi drew runner-up honors for their efforts. Third place went to the Phi Delts and Lambda Chi had a firm grip on fourth position.

ALSO GARNER GOLF TITLE

Sigma Nu gained another first in the golf campaign. Driving and putting well all season long, the champs ended the golf activity for the year with a total of 326 strokes.

Lambda Chi rolled up a total of 349 shots at the ball and were awarded second position. Seven strokes behind in third place was Sigma Chi, with 356 as their final score. Lou Yaver, of Sigma Alpha Mu, was the recipient of the low man award when he shot a 72 for one round.

TABLE TENNIS GOES TO SIGMA NU

Table tennis laurels added their lustre to Sigma Nu's record for the intramural year. In gaining their third blue ribbon, Sigma Nu dominated league play with an 8-1 season mark.

Sigma Alpha Mu and Lambda Chi Alpha each displayed 7-2 records to become deadlocked for second place. Phi Delta Theta was next in the standings with 6 wins and 3 losses.

LAMBDA CHI HARDWOOD CHAMPS

Lambda Chi's basketball quintet set two records as it battled its way to basketball supremacy. Keith Weber starred for the champions by becoming the season's highest scorer with 41 points gathered in a contest against Sigma Alpha Mu. The team, as a whole, set an all time record for team scoring performance when they blasted the AFROTC cadets, 104-36; a margin of 34 points over the previous mark.

Sigma Nu and the Phi Delts shared second place, while Sigma Chi finished in fourth position.

CLOSE RACE FOR ALL-SPORTS TROPHY

With billiards, swimming, track and softball left for competition, Sigma Nu leads in this year's race for possession of the Intramural All-Sports Trophy. Others with a chance to overtake the leaders are Sigma Chi, Phi Delta Theta, and Lambda Chi Alpha; in that order.

Phi Delta Theta captured the All-Sports Trophy at the close of last year's intramural season. In doing so, they took firsts in football, basketball and volleyball; seconds in billiards, tennis, table tennis and swimming; and fifth in track. The Phi Delts also registered a tie with Lambda Chi for first position in the softball league. This regular season deadlock was erased by a play-off contest in October, with Lambda Chi winning, 2-1, behind the strong right arm of pitcher Paul Hutson.

SIGMA CHI'S COP TRACK LAURELS

Intramural track saw Sigma Chi break two records as they romped off with 46 points and the victor's crown. Tom Cross established a new shot-put record of 41' 11", while Bob McCallum ran the 440 in a speedy 54.5.

BISA held the runner-up spot with 37 points, followed by Lambda Chi, Sigma Nu, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Alpha Mu. John Bradley of BISA received the award for being the most outstanding individual by scoring first in the broad jump, the 120 yd. low hurdles, the 70 yd. high hurdles, and the high jump.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

INTRAMURAL PLAY

Every Tuesday and Thursday was ladies' day at the fieldhouse this year. Coeds from all organizations entered into good-natured competition with their fellow sorority and independent sisters to vie for a plaque awarded the winner of each intramural sport.

At the time of this writing, not all the various programs have been completed, but Zeta Tau Alpha had copped the field hockey plaque, while the gals of Pi Beta Phi came in a close second.

As in hockey, the top two contenders for the tennis award were the Zeta's and the Pi Phi's. After stiff competition from their opponents the Zeta gals placed first, while the Pi Phi's again settled for number two spot.

Volleyball came next, and this time the situation reversed itself. The Pi Phi's, after several nerve racking games, placed first, while the Zeta's, who had beaten them before, came in second.

Bowling was the only intramural game not played on Tuesday or Thursday. This year the coeds bowled at the Parkway alleys, located at 34th and Illinois streets. Kappa Kappa Gamma, captained by Jane Knoebel, outbowled their opponents to grab top honors, while the Delta Gamma coeds followed close behind for second place.

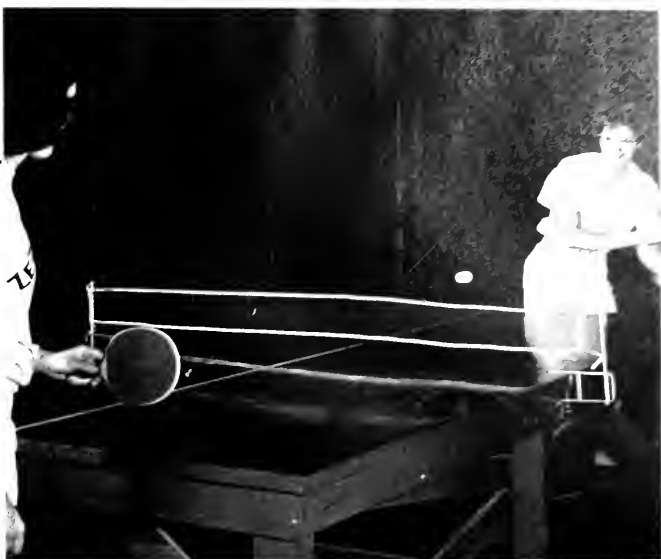

The final round of the badminton match saw the Pi Phi team of Mary Lou Hurley and George Ann Varnes meeting Diane Garceau and Ann Moreland, Alpha Chi's. By winning two out of three games, the Pi Phi's added another plaque to their collection.

In May, at the annual WRA banquet, the all-sports trophy is awarded to the group racking up the greatest number of points during the year's competition. Besides the sports mentioned above, girls compete in basketball, softball, and swimming.

INTERCOLLEGIATE PLAY

For several years, Butler has had a girls' varsity basketball team which competes with other Indiana colleges. This year, for example, the sextet played and beat Indiana State Teachers' college, but lost to the Anderson gals. At this time, the rest of the games have not been played.

Besides competing with fellow Butlerites, a girl can meet and play against some of the best athletes in other colleges by participating in the "play days." These are scheduled, not only here at Butler, but at other midwestern colleges.

GREEKS

MUSIC

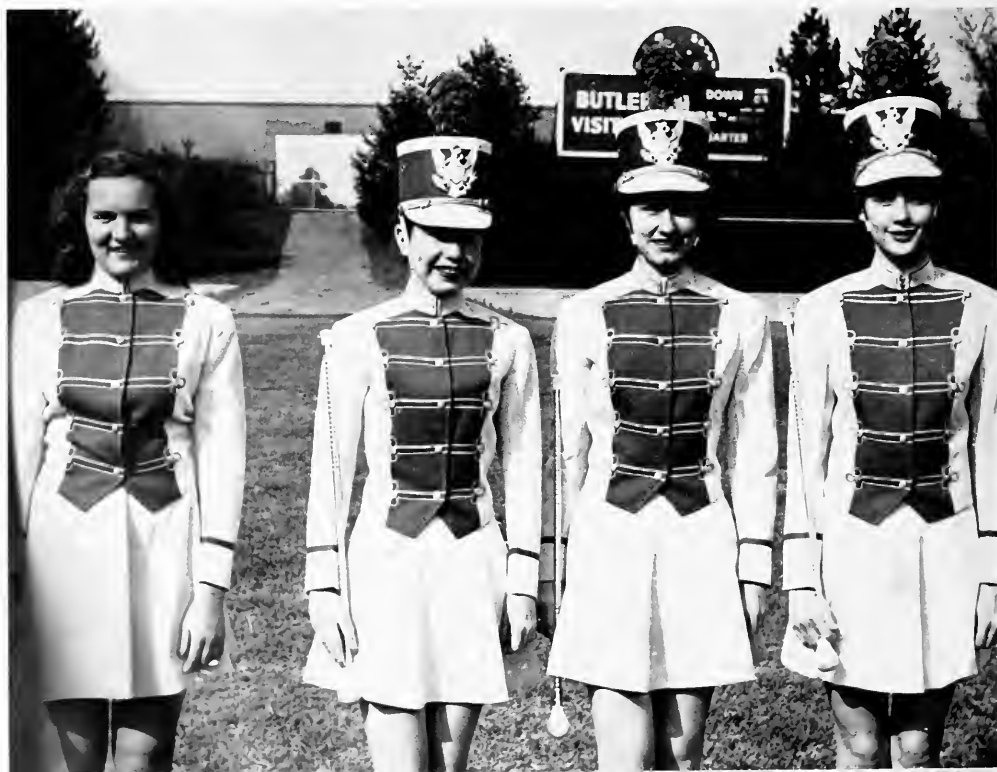

BUTLER BAND

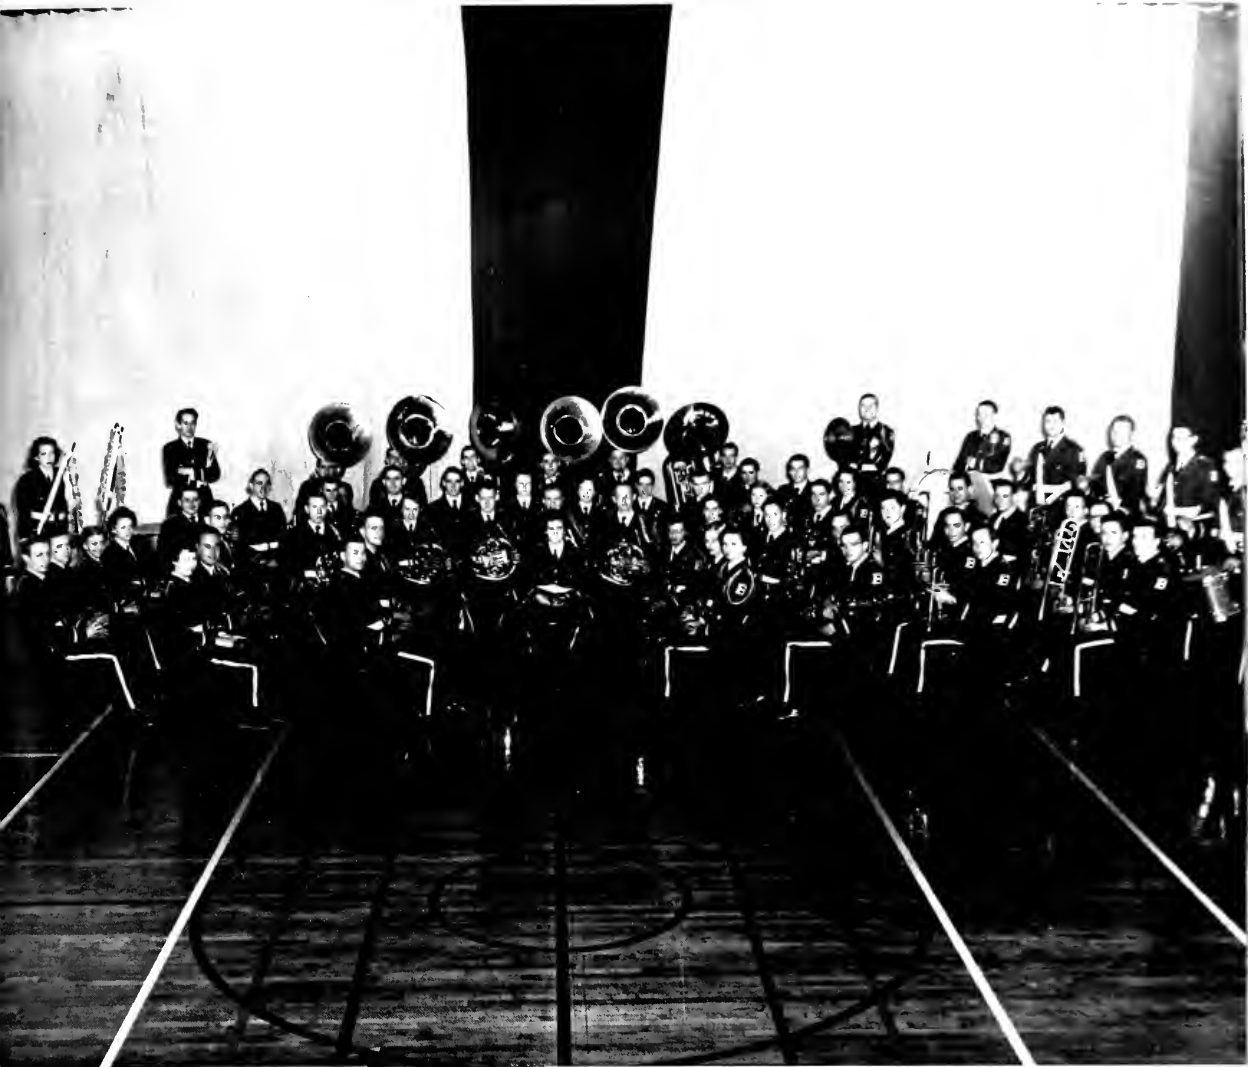

Filling the half-time lull and supporting the team at football and basketball games is the job of the band each year. Under the direction of Charles A. Henzie, the Butler Band again executed skillful maneuvers in marchtime, swingtime, and dancetime. Hal Wilkins, drum major first semester, and Dick Fox, drum major second semester, ably led the musicians, color guard, and drum majorettes through their difficult paces.

Ideas for the half-time formations and entertainment were thought up and executed by the bandsmen, color guard, and drum majorettes themselves.

The University Choir is composed of all students who are interested in singing and who are enrolled in the regular choir class which spends an hour each day practicing. This large group sings for all school convocations and other campus affairs.

The Concert Choir is composed of fifty voices chosen from the University Choir. This more specialized group has performed at school functions and before many Indianapolis groups. Their off-campus trips included appearances in Terre Haute, Anderson, Martinsville, Warsaw, Spencer, and Logansport.

The Choir also presents two annual concerts; one a Christmas program in Sweeney Chapel sponsored by the Alumnae Association, and one at Caleb Mills Hall in the spring.

This year the Men's Glee Club became an even more popular performing group. The Club is made up of those men who have a particular interest in the group. They appeared before several hospital audiences, entertained Mother's Club group, and performed at various other Indianapolis functions. They also presented a concert, sponsored by the Mother's council, at Caleb Mills Hall in the spring.

Editor-in-chief Marc Meyer.

Campaigns and more campaigns seemed to be the motto of this year's Collegian. First semester editor Marc Meyer started the campaign series with a Red Cross blood drive which netted 355 pints of Butler blood on November 13, 14, and 15. Basil Raymond was student coordinator of the drive.

Aiding in these various projects were other first semester Collegian staffers, including Mary Jordan, managing editor; Anne Wade, associate editor; Bill Draper, make-up editor; Ann Montgomery, editorial director; and June Lalen, feature editor. Char Walton handled society, Tom Abrams covered sports, Ray Stump conducted business affairs, John Butler arranged classifieds, Doug Clark provided art work, Paul Campbell built up promotion, while Dick King, Patty Ellig, Jackie Freers, and Dick Townsend shared the city editor's work.

During December the Collegian joined with other Indiana colleges in a sustained effort to do what they could toward the release of Bill Oatis, AP correspondent, imprisoned by the Czechoslovakian government on trumped-up spy charges.

Stump, Abrams, Jones, and Walton talk over Collegian policy.

The annual Collegian Cheer Drive was the biggest success ever under the methodical direction of Dave Walker, chairman. Tons of clothes, food, and toys were amassed for the needy families of Indianapolis during the Christmas season while Kappa Alpha Theta and Tau Kappa Epsilon walked away with the coveted trophies.

At the turn of the year, Mary Jordan and Anne Wade moved up to form a co-editor-in-chiefship. Don Herring became associate editor, Ann Montgomery took over management, and Ed Smith handled make-up. Wilbur Schumacher, John Vlases, Paul Harbaugh, June Wolfe and Francis Oleksy labored in the sports field, under the watchful eye of sports editor Al Wardrip. Chet Perkins assumed direction of editorials and John Butler remained in charge of classified advertising.

Patty Ellig, society editor, and her cohort, Don Chanley, "snooped" over the campus all semester digging up juicy little items about everyone in general. And no one escaped the pen of feature editor Jackie Freers as she satirized campus traditions, took polls, and interviewed celebs. Katie Simmons and Pat Keyler uncovered the happenings on other campuses and the national scene in their exchange column.

Char Walton told everyone where to go, when, and why, within the confines of her entertainment column. Meditations and religious contemplations revealed the more serious side of college life in Paul Ross, Jr.'s weekly religious column. Jack Albertson supplied the Butler paper with all the happenings in the School of Religion. An anonymous writer philosophized about different aspects of college life in "Over the Coffee Cups."

Stan Levine headed the copy desk crew during the second semester, while Bill Cale, staff photographer, was injecting a little life into the Collegian through his photographs of campus events. The "two rays of sunshine" which pervaded the dark confines of the Collegian office were Ray Stump, business manager, and Ray Sanders, his assistant.

A new feature in the Friday papers was the inclusion of a short story, essay, or other writing from one of Dr. Cundiff's Creative Writing students.

Faculty sponsorship for the college paper was assumed by Dr. DeForest O'Dell. Prof. Rosamond Risser Jones directed the advertising and business side, and Herschel Van Dusen was superintendent of the print shop.

DRIFT

From all the confusion of deadline schedules and the bewilderment of instructions emerged the Butler DRIFT.

The staff, whose home was in the upper regions of the Atherton Center, worked diligently trying to follow instructions and meet deadlines. They frantically peeled celluloid from flash bulbs trying to think up new picture shots, chased walking negatives that could never be found, and typed copy until their fingers were worn down to their elbows. After pasting, repasting, and pasting again all the art work for the book, and attaching the appropriate copy, the staff happily okayed the proofs and watched the year's record go to the press.

Many others assisted with the publishing of the book, but unfortunately were not present when the staff pictures were taken. A few of these people are Don Schlademan, Beauty Contest chairman; Jane Sisson, fraternity staff; and Judy Manning, class picture staff. Our official portrait photographer

Despite all the trials and desperate moments, it was a year the staff will never forget. And we hope that through our efforts we have produced a Picture of a year that you will never forget.

AIR FORCE ROTC

Butler University can be extremely proud of her growing Air Force ROTC unit. During the past year the unit has grown to include five hundred and seventy cadets. Always ranking near the top in college ROTC units, the Butler group has won many citations for being an outstanding unit.

UNIT'S STAFF

Lt. Col. Ben K. Armstrong, head of the Butler unit, is serving his second successful year with the corps. Also assigned to Butler last year were Lt. Col. Henry A. Johnson, Maj. Jack T. Lumley, Cap. Wendell M. Wampler, M. Sgt. Jack King, M. Sgt. Charles T. Check, M. Sgt. Alvin W. Schiebal, M. Sgt. Homer L. Chambers and T. Sgt. Thomas R. Wallace.

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES

An active intramural program was initiated by the unit during the past year. Cadet Robert Willingham served as head of the intramural program assisting Maj. Jack T. Lumley who is in charge of athletics.

Pretty Diane Spencer served as Air Angel, having won the honor by an election held among the AFROTC cadets. Her wing staff consisted of eight lovely Butler coeds. It was the responsibility of these girls to serve at AFROTC functions and parades. They added greatly to the appearance of the unit.

Establishment of a local ROTC paper became a reality when the first issue of "Fly-Paper" hit the campus. A contest was held to name the infant paper and the name FLY PAPER was chosen. Stan Levine served as editor of the edition. Assisting him were Dick King, Francis Oleksy, and Al Wardrip.

A Christmas open house was held before vacation for the first time. It was open to the entire school faculty, and staff members and their wives were in charge of the affair. The event was a tremendous success.

The Military Ball, having developed into one of the most anticipated school dances, was held at the Indiana Roof Ballroom, April 18. Jimmie Palmer and his orchestra provided the music, and flowers and favors were awarded the cadet's dates.

The annual Federal Inspection was held March 21-22 this year, much earlier than in previous years. Weeks before the affair cadets were being prepared in the elements of drill and "class room courtesy." Walls were painted and floors scrubbed for the reviewing officers. The inspection proved to be a great success and, as usual, the Butler unit came through with highly satisfactory results.

Final ceremonies for the school year found forty cadets receiving their commissions as Second Lieutenants in the United States Air Force, a fitting end to four years of splendid preparation in the Butler Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

COURSES OFFERED

The ROTC course is an integral part of four years' study in any of the curriculums of the university. There are two complete phases, each of which is accomplished in two college years. A six-week camp period is required of all cadets who complete the course and is usually taken between the two years of advanced training.

The first phase, or basic course, is offered to a student during the first and second year of attendance at the university. Normally, it is not offered to a student who does not intend to pursue a course of study resulting in the granting of a baccalaureate degree. Students are furnished all necessary texts and a complete regulation Air Force uniform.

Students who have successfully completed the basic phase of the program and who have at least two years of college training remaining are eligible to apply for admittance to the advanced phase of the program. Selection is based upon the recommendation of the president of the university and the professor of air science and tactics.

Students enrolled in the advanced course receive a monetary allowance for daily subsistence and an entire officer-type uniform tailored to fit the individual. While attending camp, pay at the rate of $75 per month is authorized.

The advanced course consists of two years of instruction in general studies of Air Force methods and techniques. In addition, a student selects a block of subjects in a specialized career field prescribed by the Department of the Air Force.

Each year the university is prescribed to designate outstanding graduates of the Air Force ROTC as Distinguished Military students. Upon completing the advanced course and receiving a degree, those so designated are eligible to apply for a commission in the Regular Air Force.

OBJECTIVES OF UNIT

The overall mission of the Air Force ROTC department is to produce junior officers who will have the qualities and attributes essential to their progressive development as officers in the United States Air Force. In general the objectives of this mission are:

- (1) To qualify selected students for appointment as junior officers in the United States Air Force.
- (2) To educate such students who will not complete the entire course, so that they may be benefited by the experience at a time then they might serve with the armed forces.
- (3) To indoctrinate in the student, the ideals and attitudes of good citizenship and to teach the responsibilities of the individual in the plan for national security.

ADMINISTRATION AND COLLEGES

DR. M. O. ROSS

Fulfilling the duties as president of the university was capable Dr. M. O. Ross. Since coming to Butler in 1942, Dr. Ross has become a familiar sight to all Butler students. Besides teaching a class he also found time to take an active interest in all Butler activities.

Butler's extensive building program has been under the hand of Dr. Ross and during his administration he has added the University College, the College of Pharmacy, and Jordan College of Music.

Richard T. James, former lieutenant governor of Indiana, served in the capacity of vice-president of the university. His recent resignation of this post will mean a definite loss to the university since his record at Butler was an admirable one. Before coming to Butler, Mr. James served as a member of the House of Representatives and as state auditor.

John T. Barnett was recently appointed secretary-treasurer of Butler University. Formerly public relations director, Mr. Barnett has served as assistant to the president in the daily routine at Butler. He is well-respected among the student body and among members of his profession throughout the Middle West.

Dean Elizabeth Ward Durlinger was in charge of all social events on the campus in her position as Dean of Women. It was also responsibility to see that the "young ladies on campus obeyed the rules of the university" concerning late hours and special privileges. Her extensive duties also include her serving on many university committees.

Always willing to help a student is Dean L. Gray Burdin, Butler's Dean of Men. Dean Burdin also serves as Director of Employment, chairman of the Men's Advisory Committee and a member of the Scholarship, Public Occasions and Student Placement committees. His many duties though do not keep him from being one of the most cheerful and friendly faculty members on campus.

The man who handles the money at Butler is Raymond Gladden, Bursar. His tremendous responsibility is made more complex since he is responsible for keeping accounts for all Butler publications, clubs and honorary organizations.

Dr. C. R. Maxam serves as Registrar of the university. It is his responsibility to see that high school credits are transferred to Butler upon a students admission and that college credits are kept accurately. He interviews incoming students and serves on the Administrative council which directs the academic program of the university.

GEORGE A. SCHUMACHER

JACK SCHACKLEFORD

George A. Schumacher, Alumni Secretary of the university, has been responsible for the efficient way in which Butler alumni have been organized. His duties included arrangements for Homecoming and the many alumni functions, and the publishing of the alumni magazine. He has served Butler faithfully since 1937. However this year Mr. Schumacher resigned his post which will now be handled by Dr. DeForest O'Dell, head of the journalism department.

Robert Newton, Director of the John Whistler Ather-ton Center, is a familiar figure in the student building. His many duties include the direction of the bookstore and general management of the student center. He is also a member of the Business Administration faculty.

Arthur Lindberg, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, will soon move his office to the near-completed building in the J. I. Holcomb gardens. It is his responsibility to see that the buildings and grounds are maintained in the beautiful fashion for which Butler is noted.

Jack Shackleford has recently assumed the duties of Public Relation Director, succeeding Mr. Barnett. Mr. Shackleford was formerly with the Indianapolis Star and is a Butler graduate.

Rolla Burghard, university physician and Mary Dixon, his assistant, are quick remedies in case of sickness.

Harold Boisen and his staff maintain the university library of which Butler is extremely proud.

Dean H. C. Graebner, Dean of the College of Business Administration, is shown in his office confronted with the many duties that fall under his jurisdiction.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The courses offered in the College of Business Administration are designed to provide training in the methods, techniques and principles underlying modern business and journalism, as a foundation for careers in these fields. A further and equally important objective is to equip students with a knowledge and understanding of the changing and developing character of economic society and the responsibilities that are laid upon educated men and women engaged in business and journalistic activities.

The College of Business Administration offers courses of instruction leading to the undergraduate degrees of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration and Bachelor of Science in journalism. The Master of Science degree in Business Administration can also be obtained.

Dr. J. Hartt Walsh, Dean of the College of Education, is one of the busiest men on campus. The College of Education was founded in 1930 after the combination of the education department and the Teacher's College of Indianapolis.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION

The main purpose of the College of Education is to prepare students for teaching in elementary and secondary schools. Butler university is fortunate in having the excellent facilities of the Indianapolis Public Schools available for use in a cooperative program of student teaching as well as in other educational activities.

The Bureau of Teacher Placement of the College of Education operates as a service agency to all graduates who desire positions in the teaching profession. The primary function of the bureau is to assist graduates and alumni in securing good teaching positions for which they are qualified and at the same time fill the needs of the employing school officials.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences objective is to continue and further to integrate the program of broad, liberal education provided in the core divisions of the University College. Also to offer opportunities for specialization in a field of major interest, thus preparing the student for entrance to graduate or professional schools. The regular curricula lead to Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees.

Dean O. L. Shelton, Dean of the School of Religion, heads one of the major colleges of the university. Here training is offered on the graduate and the undergraduate levels for students either planning to enter the ministry or some phase of religious work.

SCHOOL OF RELIGION

The School of Religion is a graduate institution within the university organization. It sustains membership in the American Association of Theological Schools and is on the accredited list of that organization.

The primary purpose of the school is to train candidates for the ministry and for allied forms of religious service. The school seeks to furnish students with knowledge and techniques adequate for productive work in the fields of pastoral, evangelistic, educational, and missionary activity and in the vocations of social service.

In addition to the professional and cultural services the school offers to properly qualified students facilities for research in specialized fields of learning. The beautiful school of Religion building is a definite asset to the campus and offers the religion student as well as students of other university colleges a well-equipped place to study.

The faculty of the School of Religion is composed of T. W. Nakarai, Arthur Holmes, Dean O. L. Shelton, F. D. Kershner, S. Marion Smith, A. C. Walters, G. B. Gordon, James Blair Miller, R. E. Osborn, Franklin E. Rector and B. A. Norris.

Dean Edward H. Niles has seen his dream come true with the completion of one of the most modern and well equipped Pharmacy buildings in the world. The new building will offer students enrolled in pharmacy a chance to use the most up-to-date equipment available.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY

The new College of Pharmacy now located on the Butler campus is in full operation and pharmacy students can now enjoy the most modern facilities in preparation for their vocational work later in life.

The College is a member of the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy and is accredited by the American Council of Pharmaceutical Education. The college attempts to develop a spirit of professionalism in its students. One instrument of this policy is a student branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association which meets regularly for discussion and lectures on professional and scientific problems.

Dr. Harry A. Crull holds the guiding light to all students on the undergraduate level when they first enter Butler. It is Dr. Crull's duty to see that the students become indoctrinated and understand what is expected of them academically during their years at Butler.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

Leaders in higher education are agreed that students should not begin specialization during their first year in college and that they should undergo a program designed to familiarize themselves with the various fields of education. The university college was designed for this purpose. While a student is enrolled in the university college he becomes associated with the various colleges of the university. Liberal arts, business administration, philosophy and many other fields are touched by the student enrolled in this important college.

SUMMER AND EVENING DIVISIONS

Other divisions of Butler University include the Summer, Evening and Graduate Divisions. The Summer Session was designed for the student who wanted to accomplish further education during the summer months. A complete schedule of classes is offered during the summer to enable the student either to make up past work or complete additional requirements for graduation. The Summer Division is headed by C. T. Mocas.

The Evening Division, also headed by Mr. Mocas, closely parallels the "day school" in attendance and is used for students who find it more convenient to schedule their classes in the evening. Also, professional men and women in Indianapolis use these facilities for further education in their fields of employment.

The Graduate Division, headed by C. E. Aldrich, was organized to bring the graduate work of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a part of the graduate work of the School of Religion under one faculty. In 1943, the degree of Master of Science was extended to Jordan College of Butler University so as to provide training in music education.

C. T. Mocas has recently been appointed as Director of the Evening and Summer Divisions. Formerly an instructor in the Language department, Mr. Mocas has proved to be very capable since coming to Butler.

Donald M. Pattison served as director of the John Herron Art Institute and is responsible for the fine caliber of artists that are produced at Herron.

JOHN HERRON ART INSTITUTE

The facilities of the John Herron Art Institute and Herron Art Museum are open to all Butler students. A joint arrangement has been made with the Herron faculty to provide credit at Butler for work done at the art school.

The school is recognized as one of the outstanding art schools in the country and students attend Herron for a full period of time and enter commercial fields.

Close association with the instructor is one of the many fine qualities at John Herron.

Sculpture work is offered at Herron as well as other types of art instruction.

JORDAN COLLEGE OF MUSIC

One of the highlights of the year was the merger of Jordan College of Music with Butler University. The new college of the university is now known as Jordan College of Music of Butler University. Plans are underway for the construction of a new building on the campus to house the new college. The building will consist of an auditorium, class rooms and studios for WAJC-FM, Jordan station. Rumors are that television studios are planned for the building also.

Instruction in dance, radio, speech and drama are available at Jordan as well as all phases of music education.

Jordan studios are now located at buildings on North Delaware Street.

G. V. Carrier is the Director of Jordan College of Butler University. It is hoped that the facilities of Jordan College will soon be located on the Butler campus.

Art Van Allen serves as student announcer of radio station WAJC-FM, Jordan College. Regularly scheduled programs are aired over this station daily.

Richard Whittington is responsible for the fine choir and chorale group that represent Butler on many trips throughout the state.

CLASSES

On the morning of June 8, 1952, the seniors donned caps and gowns, received their diplomas and left the Fairview campus to take their places in the world. With them they took the experience and knowledge gained through the opportunities of a higher education, and the lasting friendships and memories of four years.

Officers of the class of 1952 were Tom Orr, Lambda Chi Alpha, president; Pat Ent, Kappa Alpha Theta, vice-president; Ann Montgomery, Zeta Tau Alpha, secretary; John Walsh, Kappa Sigma, treasurer.

During their last year, the seniors participated in many activities including Founders Day and Honor Day ceremonies at which they appeared in full academic regalia. The annual picnic and Senior Ball on June 6 highlighted the social season.

Officers of B.I.S.A., headed by Dave Schafer, talk things over with their sponsor, Mrs. Karl Means.

The Class of 1953 entered Butler in the traditional dazed fashion. Registration lines, keeping track of their green rhinie pots, and the football season and long assignments occupied their minds until November when they went to the polls to choose their officers.

Richard Brady, Delta Tau Delta, was elected for the head position. The others voted into office were Robert Brown, Phi Kappa, vice-president; Eloise Kerr, Delta Delta Delta, secretary; Art Atlas, Sigma Alpha Mu, treasurer.

On the activities side, the class had its coming out party in the form of the Y Freshman Mixer, and on May 16 the annual Freshman Rose Dance was presented.

How good is "good enough"?

Here in America, we're a lot less interested in answering that question than we are: "How much better can we do it?"

That's why last year's track records have a way of falling, this year. That's why this year's miracle drugs give way to greater medical miracles, next year. That's why we come up with television . . . then color television.

That's also why we come up with a good gasoline . . . then a better gasoline.

For, under the healthy, competitive system we have in the U.S.A., there is a reward in sports, in science, in business—for those who are not satisfied with "good enough."

As long as every individual and every company is free to seek the reward that comes with "doing it better," America will continue to be a better and better place in which to live.

Memorable Dates in Butler History

1855—Northwestern Christian University, College Avenue and 13th St.

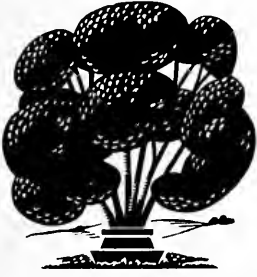

1875—Moved to Irvington, then outside the City of Indianapolis

1877—Renamed Butler University

1928—Moved to its new and present campus in Fairview, a perfect site for an expanding university

In 1871, the first public water supply in Indianapolis began operation. It was not until 1903, however, that the Indianapolis Water Company caught up with Butler. At that time, water mains were laid in Butler Avenue and University Avenue, adjacent to the Irvington campus. Today, a safe and adequate water supply surrounds Butler and from the campus can be seen our Blue Ridge Elevated Tank, another landmark for the homing student.
